AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

ABOUT the year 1872 the author became interested in the history of his own ancestry, and commenced making inquiries in regard to it. During the progress of his researches there was awakened in him a desire for more extended information, and he was encouraged to continue his efforts until he had accumulated sufficient material to warrant him in publishing a "Genealogy of the Burleigh Family," and the book was issued in 1880. From the experience thus obtained, he had acquired such a fondness for genealogical research that it became to him an almost irresistible fascination, and in consequence he was impelled to continue the pursuit in the collateral branches of his family, thus procuring considerable material relating to other family names, much of which has been contributed to other genealogists.

Having devoted considerable time, without success, in trying to connect his great-grandfather, Samuel Guile, in an unbroken line from Samuel Guile, one of the first settlers of Haverhill, Mass., he was induced to make closer search of the records, and more extended inquiries. He was especially prompted to do this, from the recollections of his dear old grandmother, and the many good things received from her in his childhood; her constant solicitude for the happiness of others which led her to minister to their necessities, and her abiding faith in the Divine Master; all tending to make the desire greater to honor her memory, and to ascertain from whom her noble qualities were inherited, and also to perpetuate the same in some permanent form by publishing the history of her ancestry. In searching the records at Haverhill, the author found the name of Guild applied to Samuel and his sons, in several instances, still it never occurred to him that the names might be identical, until he mentioned his purpose to prepare a genealogy of the Guile family to a friend, who understood the name to be Guild, both being pronounced nearly alike in this country, and the friend mentioned the fact that Mr. Charles H. Guild, of Somerville, Mass., was greatly interested in the history of this family, and would no doubt render valuable assistance. After a long correspondence with Mr. Guild, the result of their combined efforts was to establish the relationship between John, of Dedham, and Samuel, of Haverhill, beyond a reasonable doubt, and by his solicitation the author was induced to include both branches in the work.

In 1867, Mr. Calvin Guild, of Dedham, published a duodecimo volume of one hundred twenty pages, containing a partial record of the family of John Guild, but during the period of twenty years which has elapsed since its publication, there has been a large increase in the membership of the family, and many new branches have been discovered. In 1878, there appeared a small volume of forty pages, issued by L. A. and T. Guild, of Bethlehem, Conn., containing the records of Samuel Guild, who went from Dedham to Lebanon, Conn., and in 1886, L. A. and G. S. Guild published a few pages supplemental thereto. None of these publications made any pretence of giving a history of the individual members of the family, but only to place the records, as far as they had ascertained them, in a permanent form.

The families have been found to be much more numerous and more widely scattered than had been supposed, and consequently the labor and expense in collecting the material has been greater than was at first estimated. The author has used all honorable means to procure extended and complete records of families and sketches of individuals, and a generally commendable interest has been manifested, but it is to be regretted that many to whom the blanks were sent have failed to make returns, and in numerous instances the request has been renewed by urgent appeals, without avail. The posterity of John Guild is presented with very few persons unaccounted for in the male lines.

Had the records of Samuel Guile's posterity been placed in permanent form twenty years ago, many of the broken lines might have been avoided; no doubt in the great emigration of 1817, many families of this name moved West, and their descendants are still living in the smaller towns, engaged in agricultural pursuits, so that the author has failed to obtain a trace of them through the many directories which have been consulted.

Notwithstanding all the care which has been exercised, and all the means taken to verify dates and names, mistakes will occur in many different ways, for which the author is not responsible. Should any appear which may be fairly chargeable to him, a generous indulgence is solicited, for sixteen months' time seems a short period in which to prepare and publish a work of this kind. In the opinion of the author, seldom is there much to be gained by delaying a publication on which a reasonable time has been expended, and the ground fairly well covered. The arrangement, which is substantially that recommended by the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, is simple, and possesses many advantages, not only to the compiler, but to the general reader. Every person in the male lines has a consecutive number, which can be ascertained by consulting the alphabetical index. Where a cross (+) appears before that number, it shows that the record is carried forward, and the number will be found in large figures in the center of a page. In the female lines the sons and daughters are numbered with figures in parentheses, viz. (1), (2), (3), etc.; the grandchildren with numerals, viz. (I), (II), (III); the great-grandchildren with capital letters, viz. (A), (B), (C), etc.; and the great-great-grandchildren with small letters, viz. (a), (b), (c), etc.

It is the earnest hope of the author that the result of his labors may impart to others the same gratification it has afforded him in its preparation, and he will be pleased to receive any additional material, which will be carefully preserved and deposited with the New England Historic-Genealogical Society at Boston, where any future genealogist of the family can obtain it, should it be thought advisable years hence to publish another edition. To all who have in any manner aided in this work the author tenders his hearty thanks; and especially to Mr. Charles H. Guild, of Somerville, Mass., to whom the family is largely indebted. It was he who encouraged the plan of taking up both branches, and became a liberal subscriber toward its publication. Having a large and valuable library of genealogical and historical works of his own, and having access to nearly all the published works of the kind, he has consulted them freely, and at all times, when requested to do so. He has prepared the Introduction, arranged many sketches, made numerous personal visits to procure records, carried on a large correspondence in England and Scotland in the endeavor to locate the home of our ancestors, examined proof, and advised where the judgment of mature years is valuable to a young author.

To Mr. E. F. Guild, of East Saginaw, Mich., the author is indebted for nearly all of the records relating to the posterity of Samuel Guild,⁴ who moved from Leyden, Mass., to West Winfield, N. Y. The result of his efforts shows patience and perseverance, and the fullest account of the female lines which the book contains. To Rev. Edwin S. Walker, of Springfield, Ill., the author is indebted for the valuable material relating to the families which originated at Chester, Vt. To Mr. Calvin Guild, of Dedham, Mass., author of the first edition of the Guild Family, he is indebted for the records contained therein, the loan of his notes collected in view of a second edition, which had been his fondest desire, and only relinquished because of the weight of business cares, and his advancing years, and also for the confidence reposed in the author, who was to him a total stranger. Space forbids making mention of other special acts of kindness, but the author can sincerely say that the many friends he has made well repay him for the labor in the preparation of this volume. Let us go forward with the lessons which the past has taught, gathering fresh inspiration from the recollections of an honorable ancestry, and each succeeding generation adding virtue to virtue, so that our posterity may justly be proud of the attainments of their ancestors.

CHARLES BURLEIGH.

PORTLAND, ME., Dec. 1, 1887.

INTRODUCTION.

GENEALOGY has been defined as "an account or history of the descent of a person or family from an ancestor; the enumeration of ancestors and their children in natural order of succession."

But it is sometimes asked, "Of what use is it?" This question might with almost equal propriety be asked concerning the kindred sciences of History and Biography; for if there is utility in preserving a record of events, or of the life and character of individuals, then the science which embraces, as it is now understood and practiced, in a considerable degree both these features, must also be interesting and profitable.

Our ancestors, the early founders of New England, were a reverent, conscientious and industrious people, and a consideration of their lives, their hardships and their achievements, cannot fail of proving salutary. "God sifted a whole nation that he might send choice grain into the wilderness."

In a legal point of view, genealogical knowledge is essential for the establishment of family or personal claims. Everyone should be able to define exactly his relationships and connections, even when no question of property, or mere matter of law or right, is involved. It is both a natural and an honorable ambition on the part of any man to have his genealogy traced, but unfortunately there are some who cannot see the necessity or desirableness of having their pedigrees ascertained, or of preserving any papers or documents bearing upon them, that they may have their descents defined and arranged in authentic genealogical order.

The neglect with which ancient documents are often treated in families arises frequently from carelessness, but in most instances from ignorance of their contents or their value. Most people appear to be content with mere traditionary details of their lineage, without being at the pains to authenticate them by reference to proper records or regular genealogical authorities.

As a means of tracing the origin and history of a family it becomes necessary to consider briefly the origin and signification of personal names in general. Instead of family names which we bear in our days, there were at first only individual names, given to indicate some peculiarity, either of person or circumstances, and all proper names had originally a peculiar and appropriate meaning. The most natural way of distinguishing an individual, and one which connects itself the most with the identity of name and person, is that of giving a name which shall remind others of his most striking peculiarities. But as a community increases, this limit proves to be insufficient, and resort is had to the occupations, associations, habits, tastes, virtues, moral and physical defects, etc. But some other enlargements become necessary in order to distinguish between members of the same family, and the custom arose of prefixing or adding somewhat to indicate the father's name, as, — John son of John, which became, for the sake, of brevity, Johnson; and so with many other names which were formed in like manner; in other languages other methods were used for this purpose, as, in Wales, the prefix was Ap or Ab; in England, Fitz; in Scotland, Mac; and in Ireland, Mac and O'.

Following out the principle of seeking for the origin of a name from its apparent signification or application, we will now take the patronymic, which more immediately concerns the family of which we are to treat.

In the Dictionary of Obsolete and Provincial English, by Wright, "Gild, is a village green; Guile, is as much liquor as is brewed at once;" Gille, is Scotch for servant; Gulde, is from the Dutch signifying golden; Guild, is from the Anglo-Saxon Gild-an, to yield or to pay (Dutch, Gilde; German, Gilde;) and is applied to a society or company associated as a commercial or trade corporation. The ancient Guilds were friendly trade societies, in which each member paid a certain initiation fee of a gold coin, called a guild. There was a separate guild for each craft of importance. The Court of Common Council, the Court of Aldermen, and the Chamberlains' Court, were called the City Guilds.

The English names Gyller, Gayler, Gyllard and Gildart, are all corruptions of Guilder, i.e., belonging to a Guild. And the name Guild itself is a surname. Considerable effort has been made to trace the name and family in the old country, especially in Scotland, from whence it was supposed by the compiler of the former "Genealogy of the Guild Family" that our ancestors emigrated, without, as yet, having been able to obtain much information of a definite or satisfactory nature. "Sims' Origin and Signification of Scottish Surnames" makes no mention of the name in any of its different forms, and in Burke's "General Armory" the name is not found.

At the present day the name Guild exists in various parts of Scotland, although the persons bearing it do not appear to be numerous. The formation of the name as now found, does not seem to be philologically indigenous to that locality, but partakes rather of an English construction, and leads to a supposition that it may even have been transplanted from some other place than that, at a time previous to its English adoption.

There is a theory held by some, that the origin of the name and family may reasonably be looked for in the early Huguenot immigration into England and Scotland, and that the name may possibly have been originally Guilder or Guildart. The French and Walloons, who fled to England and Scotland to escape the religious restrictions and persecutions, were mostly skilled artisans, and very many were cloth-makers, as England had previously been pastoral and agricultural rather than manufacturing, and had exported her product of wool to be manufactured abroad. But special efforts were about this time made, both in England and Scotland, to introduce the manufacture of cloth, and a body of Flemings became settled in the Canon-gate of Edinburgh.

It has been pretty conclusively ascertained that the majority, if not all, of the immigrants with whom our ancestors are found to have been in company upon their arrival, were from the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk in England; and it is hardly probable that these three, very young persons, should have come from some other distant locality, but rather that they were in some way related to some of the company, and came under their protection, especially as in after years, in giving names to their children, we find them appropriating those which were peculiar to certain of those families. And, beside, the municipal and church records in and about London, still give instances of the name.

In England, it was customary for separate classes to remain distinct, the sons most generally following the avocation or calling of their father; and as it is pretty well ascertained that our immigrants ancestors were weavers, this may have been the calling pursued by their ancestors also, which would seem to give a possibility to the Huguenot theory.

As a means of tracing an ancestry, and as a help to the genealogist, resort is often had to the evidences of heraldry; but it should be distinctly understood that there is no such thing as a coat-of-arms belonging to all bearers of any particular surname. And the claim to use a coat-of-arms because "it belongs to our family," is entirely absurd, indicating an entire ignorance of the principles which govern heraldry or a total disregard of all authority in such matters. No person is entitled to use armorial bearings, although they may have been borne by some one of the same family name, unless he can prove his descent in regular line from the person to whom they were originally granted. But as no Herald's College exists in America, greater latitude in this respect may reasonably be afforded, and the stringent laws governing the use of coat-armor in Europe need not be insisted upon; and if a person can reasonably trace his ancestry to any locality where a certain armor was used by persons of his family name, it is perhaps pardonable to appropriate it, although the direct line of descent cannot be shown. Many families in New England possess old paintings of their coat-of-arms, which are highly prized by them, and are treasured as heirlooms, under the supposition that they are genuine and have been in the possession of their ancestors for a much longer period than they actually have, which are similar in many of their features, and are generally spurious. They are blazoned on a sheet of paper about fourteen inches by ten inches. The shield is always surmounted by an esquire's helmet of steel and gold (although an esquire's helmet should always be of steel only). They are decorated on either side by branches of palm and laurel, and underneath is a scroll, which, instead of a motto, generally has, "By the Name of —," or "He beareth, etc., Azure, a lion rampant, gold, by the Name of —." And the absurdity has been even carried so far as to make use of the American flag for a crest. (See No. 4.)

one John Cole, or his son John Cole jr., between the years 1776 and 1826, or of those which were painted by George Searle, who flourished about the same time as the elder Cole, although there were a few other equally irresponsible artists deceiving the public in the same manner. The work of any of these is easily distinguished by persons of experience in such matters, through certain peculiarities which were characteristic of them. It was their custom to paint a lot of different designs, many of which were taken from "Guillims Display of Heraldry," and fill in the name of any person who became their patron as they solicited orders in traveling about the country. Others have been found which appear to have some element of genuineness, but to whom they were originally granted, or by what line of descent they have been perpetuated, has not been ascertained. The late Benjamin Guild, Esq., of Boston, while traveling in Great Britain, procured, it is said, from the Herald's College in London, a coat-of-arms which was claimed to have been granted to some person of the name of Guild, which he caused to be engraved on a stone, and used as a signet to a ring. It may be described as follows: Azure, a lion rampant, or; Crest, on a wreath an arm couped, holding in the hand a broadsword; Motto, Maintien le Droit. (See No. 5.) There is also one, "Guilde of that Ilk," depicted in "Stodart's Scottish Arms," which was taken from "An Ancient manuscript called Workmans." "Of that Ilk," in Scottish usage, denotes that a person's surname and title are the same. This one bears evidence of the greater antiquity, and as having been granted to some one of the name of Guilde, but to whom or at what time it is not now known, consequently no one at the present day, in our country at least, can rightfully lay claim to its use. These arms, were, however, used by the Rev. William Guild, of Aberdeen, and by his father, Matthew Guild, of the same place. It is described as follows: Arms, Azure, a chevron, or, between three marigolds of the second. No crest or motto. (See No. 6.)

In Burke's General Armory, the arms of Guldes (Scotland) are given as follows: Azure, a chevron argent, between three tadpoles, or. (See No. 1.) Also the arms of Guille (Bailey, of Guernsey, 1511), Azure, a chevron between three mullets of eight points, or; Crest, a mullet of seven points, or, between two wings argent. Motto, Raptim ad sidera tollar. (See No. 3.) Guille (of Jersey) Azure, a chevron between three stars of seven points, or; Crest, a star as in the arms. Motto, E, celo lux mea. (See No. 2.) It will be observed there is considerable similarity between the arms found in "Workman's Manuscript" and that of the family of Guille of Jersey, the field and the chevron being the same, the difference being in the substitution of mullets instead of the flowers.

Nearly all the persons by the name of Guild, Guiles, Guile, and Gile, in America, are descended from the immigrant brothers John and Samuel Guild or Guile, who came to this country in the year 1636; and as they appear to have been persons in the humble walks of life, it is highly improbable that they supported the dignity of coat armor, or claimed nobility of blood or birth. But they do appear to have been persons possessing those sterling qualities of mind and heart of which good citizens, patriots and Christians are formed ; and if we may lay claim to a kinship by which we have derived a nobility of this sort, it will be amply sufficient.

When the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, in 1620, New England was one vast wilderness, inhabited only by the American Indians and wild beasts. From 1620 to 1630 the amount of immigration was inconsiderable, and but few new settlements were made. The arbitrary and oppressive measures which were enacted in England by King Charles I. and his prime minister, Archbishop Laud, caused a new impetus to be given to emigration, and the number of those who departed to America was very large during the next decade, notwithstanding the stringent measures which were adopted to prevent it, and in order to procure a passage, it became necessary to resort to various expedients to accomplish that end. Large numbers registered as servants, and efforts were made to withhold the names of many, so that the recorded lists of emigrants that have been preserved are very meager and defective. Upon the removal of the arbitrary restrictions concerning religious matters in 1640, emigration to America again nearly ceased, and for the next hundred years probably more left for England than came to New England.

The brothers John and Samuel Guild, with their sister Ann, arrived about the year 1636, but the place from whence they embarked, the name of the ship in which they came, or the port of their arrival, are not positively known, neither is it ascertained beyond a doubt where they were located previous to their going to Dedham, Mass.

They were probably quite young when they came, and judging from the dates of the marriage of each, and of the qualifying of the brothers as freemen, it is conjectured that Ann was the oldest, being about twenty, John about eighteen, and Samuel about sixteen years of age.

The marriage of James Allen and Ann Guild is recorded in Dedham, March 16, 1638, as also the births of four of their children, previous to their leaving with the company which went from Dedham in 1649, to found a new settlement on its western border, which in the following year was incorporated by the name of Medfield. A partial genealogy of their descendants was published by Joseph Allen in 1869.

The genealogy of the descendants of John Guild, by Calvin Guild, of Dedham, contains all the names and statistics that the author had been able to procure during a period of nearly twenty years previous, but giving a record of only two hundred eighty-four families. Since then the increase of the family has been very great, and diligent and persistent efforts have been rewarded by finding also a very large number of families that had removed early from Massachusetts, and become dispersed throughout the United States, but principally in Connecticut and the West, which were not included in the first edition, a disposition to become pioneers having early manifested itself.

Samuel Guild seems not to have permanently located in Dedham, but went in 1640, to Newbury, leaving there soon after to join the company formed by the Rev. Nathaniel Ward, which commenced a settlement at Haverhill; here he continued to reside during the remainder of his long life, becoming identified with all the measures which were instituted and carried out for the prosperity of the enterprise.

The year 1636, the date of the arrival of these immigrants, has been described as "the stormiest and most perilous in the history of the colony." The brilliant but erratic Harry Vane had just been chosen governor in place of John Haynes, and after an unpopular administration of one year, was succeeded by the renowned John Winthrop, who held the office for three years, with Thomas Dudley as deputy-governor. The disturbances occasioned by Mrs. Anne Hutchinson in the teaching of her peculiar doctrines and her sharp criticisms upon the government, had procured for her the sentence of banishment; and Roger Williams, by his "unsettled judgment," and his denial of the rights of government, had made himself obnoxious to such a degree that it was considered unsafe to allow him to remain; the Indians were becoming hostile, and the Pequot War was on the eve of breaking out, so that it was necessary for all the inhabitants of the newly settled towns to keep in constant readiness to repel any attack, and many were called upon to take up arms and march in defence of the settlements.

The government was administered by a General Court, consisting of a governor, a deputy-governor, and eighteen assistants; and only freemen, that is, those who, being members of one of the churches, had been duly elected such by the general or quarterly court, and had subscribed to the Freeman's Oath, were permitted to vote. The Freeman's Oath, as established in 1634, was as follows:—

I, (——), being by God's providence an Inhabitant and Freeman, within the Jurisdiction of this Commonwealth, do freely acknowledge myself to be a subject to the Government thereof; And do here swear by the great and dreadful Name of the Ever-living God, that I will be true and faithful to the same, and will yield assistance and support thereunto, with my person and estate, as in equity I am bound, and will also truly endeavor to maintain and preserve all liberties and privileges thereof, submitting myself to the wholesome Lawes and Orders made and established by the same. And further, that I will not plot or practice any evil against it, or consent to any that shall so do; but will timely discover and reveal the same to lawfull Authority now here established, for the speedy preventing thereof. Moreover, I doe solemnly bind myself in the sight of God, that when I shall be called to give my voyce touching any such matter of this state, in which Freeman are to deal, I will give my vote and suffrage as I shall judge in mine own conscience may best conduce and tend to the publike weal of the body. So help me God in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thus it may be seen what value the early founders of New England placed upon citizenship, and what safeguards were instituted for the integrity of the Commonwealth.

The older towns had already "become straitened for want of room," and the people were pushing out into the wilderness and founding new ones. At first thought this being straitened for want of room appears strange, but in reality it is not so when we consider that the occupation of the people at this time was almost exclusively in the cultivation of the soil, and in the rearing of cattle; and as it was mainly the valleys which were tilled, and the meadows which furnished the grass and hay for feeding the stock, all other localities being densely wooded, we can readily see the necessity for their seeking, from time to time, other suitable locations. Prompted by this impulse, a petition was sent to the General Court by the people of Watertown and Roxbury, for leave to locate a settlement on the Charles River, above the falls, which was granted in 1635, and operations were immediately commenced. The first town-meeting was held in the same year, with twelve persons assembled; the next year the number was nineteen, and in 1642-3 there were but sixty or seventy.

It is probable that the two brothers John and Samuel, and their sister Ann, were in Dedham as early as 1637, as in this year John subscribed to the town compact or covenant, and in 1638 the marriage of Ann is recorded there. John is named among the original proprietors to whom land was granted on the first apportionment in severalty, in 1642; but as Samuel had left in 1640, his name is not found as a landholder.

As an indication of the character of our early New England fathers, and as giving an illustration of the motives and methods in the founding of new towns, a copy of the compact or covenant is here inserted.

1st We, whose names are hereunto subscribed, doe in the feare and reverence of our Almighty God, mutually and severally promise amongst ourselves and to each other, to p,ssesse and practice one truth according to that most perfect rule, the foundation whereof is everlasting love.

2d That we shall by all means labour to keepe of from us all such as are contrary minded, and receive only such unto us as may be p,ably of one harte with us, as shal we either know or may well and truly be informed to walk in peaceable conversation with all meekness of spirit for the edification of each other in the knowledge and truth of the Lord Jesus, and the mutuall encouragement unto all temporall comforts; in all things seeking the good of each other out of all which may be derived from power.

3d That if at any time difference shall arise between p,ties of our said towne, that then such p,tie or p,ties shall p,sently refer all such difference unto som one, two, or three others of our said societie, to be fully accorded and determined without any further delaye, if it possibly may be.

4th That every man that may now or hereafter have lotts in our said towne shall paye his share in all such rates of money and charges as shall be imposed upon him rateably in p,portion with other men; as also become freely subject unto all such orders and constitutions as shall be necessarily had or made, now or at any time hereafter from this day forward, as m,tt for loving and comfortable societie in our said towne, as also be for the p,sperous and thriving condition of our fellowship, especially respecting the feare of God, in which we desire to begin and continue whatsoever we shall by his loving favour take in hand. And for the better manifestation of our true resolution herein, every man so received to subscribe hereunto his name, thereby obliging both himself and his successors after him forever, as we have done.

This compact or covenant was in effect a constitution, and laid the foundation for making legitimate by-laws. For three years the government was maintained by all the citizens assembled in monthly meetings. But this method proved to be too much of a tax upon their time, inasmuch as it diverted them from their business, and their power was delegated in 1639 to seven men, to be annually chosen for this purpose, to whom were intrusted all the powers of the body politic, and who were styled the selectmen.

As the settlement of the town proceeded in this gradual manner, it was some time before distinct and authentic accounts of the proceedings were recorded, and it was toward the end of 1642 before any one was deputed to register the births, marriages and deaths, according to the order of the General Court.

Such were the municipal features of Dedham plantation for many years, a little community governed principally by its own laws, and having but little connection with other people. And no sooner had the foundations of civil government been laid, than the people set about procuring a religious teacher, built a meeting-house, and performed every other act necessary for immediate establishment of worship among them. Then immediately followed measures for instituting public schools, toward the support of which a portion of the public lands were devoted.

The dwellings of the settlers were at first of the most primitive character, such as could be constructed without the aid of mechanics, of whom there were but few, and it was several years after the commencement of a settlement before frame houses were erected. These were quite similar in style, being generally of two stories in height, with the upper story projecting somewhat beyond the lower one, and having a long, steep, lean-to roof.* Their food was coarse and frugal, little meat of any kind being used, the staple articles being coarsely ground meal of wheat or Indian corn for their bread, and beans cooked in various ways. Coffee and potatoes were unknown, and but very little tea was used; their clothing was coarse in texture and quality, but by careful usage was made to serve for a long time. The Sabbath commenced on Saturday at sunset, when all manual labor ceased, and continued till the following sunset. Services on Sunday began at nine o'clock A.M., the people being called to assemble by beat of the drum, and the exercises usually continued for four or five hours, with a shorter service in the afternoon. Voting in town meetings was effected by the freemen present casting corn and beans, — a grain of corn for the affirmative and a bean for the negative. A "train band" became an early necessity, and even the youths of sixteen years of age and upward were compelled to drill weekly, to fit them for service. The mode of traveling was for a long time on horseback, the wife or children being carried behind the man, on a pillion. There were no wagons, nor roads suitable for their use had they been possessed. For many years wolves and other wild animals were destructive, and the settlers were in almost constant alarm and peril from the Indians.

Thus has been briefly given a description of the state and condition of New England at the time of the arrival of our immediate ancestors, of the method of founding the towns, of the formation of the churches, and a glance at some of the manners and customs of the people of that age, thereby reminding us of the sterling qualities of those who, by their wisdom, their sacrifices and their perseverance, achieved for us the glorious heritage of a free, enlightened and Christian commonwealth.

Verily "other men labored, and we have entered into their labors."

* An elderly lady, now living, remembers to have seen the original house of John Guild, and from her description a very good sketch of it has been made.

REV. WILLIAM GUILD, D.D., a Scottish divine, born at Aberdeen in 1586, was the son, and probably the only son, of Matthew Guild, a wealthy armorer of that place, and a member of the Corporation of Hammermen, who died in 1603.

He had three sisters (Jean, Christian and Margaret), two of whom survived him, and succeeded to a part of his estate. Jean was married to David Anderson, of Finzeach, celebrated in the Statistical Account of Aberdeen as so eminent for his philosophical knowledge and abilities that he was commonly called Davie do a'thing. She died before her brother, and bequeathed a very considerable sum "for the maintenance and education of poor orphans." Christian was unmarried at the time of her brother's death. Margaret, the other surviving sister, was married to Thomas Cushnie, glazier.

In Aberdeen, the place of the nativity of Dr. Guild, there is not a public register of births or baptisms of so ancient date as the year 1586, but it is, however, sufficiently known by other authentic evidence, that he was born in that year, though the particular day of his birth cannot now be ascertained.

He was early placed under the care of proper teachers, and his progress was such as to qualify him early for something higher. The new college in Aberdeen, founded by George, Earl Marischal, having been lately opened for the reception of students, he entered this seminary. He early developed a relish for theology, to which he peculiarly devoted himself, and in which he made great progress, so that at the age of twenty-two he had published his first treatise, which was soon followed by others.

In 1608, he was called to the pastoral charge of the parish of King Edward, in the presbytery of Turriff, and synod of Aberdeen, where, amidst the laborious duties of his office, he passed some of his happiest years.

In 1610, he was married to Katherine Rowen, daughter of — Rowen or Rolland, of Disblair, an amiable woman, by whose aid and sympathy he was greatly assisted and sustained. They had no children.

Jan. 12, 1631, Dr. Guild was appointed successor to Mr. James Ross over one of the prominent pastoral charges of Aberdeen, and having consented to the election, he was removed from King Edward to Aberdeen by the usual procedure of his ecclesiastical superiors, and he became associated in the work of the ministry at Aberdeen, with several pious, moderate and learned colleagues.

His devoted attachment to the interests of the citizens of Aberdeen was manifested by his aid to their public seminaries of learning and their societies for the encouragement of honest industry, to which he made munificent donations.

Aug. 18, 1640, he was elected Principal of King's College, and on the twenty-seventh of June, 1641, he preached for the last time as Minister of Aberdeen. The college received the royal favor and encouragement of the Sovereign, King Charles I., who was so well pleased with the merit of the worthy principal, that he bestowed upon him the free gift of the house and garden which had formerly been the residence of the Bishop of Aberdeen. But Dr. Guild did not allow the gift to increase his private fortune, for, with that generosity and beneficence for which he was so remarkable, he devoted this present to the service of the public; and the College, the town and the poor of the parishes derived additional accommodation.

The flame of civil war which had been kindled in all parts of the British Empire, was not extinguished without occasioning the tragical death of the king and the subversion of the monarchy. Many prominent persons, among whom were Dr. Guild and several of the professors of the College, being suspected of too strong attachment to the royal cause, incurred the displeasure of the ruling powers, and in 1651, he, with others, was deposed.

During his retirement, Dr. Guild added to the number of his theological works, and was constantly engaged in further acts of liberality and usefulness. His death occurred in August, 1657.

Mrs. Guild seems to have resembled her husband in the benevolent affections of her mind, and followed his example in the charitable deeds of her life.

In a Latin oration in praise of the benefactors of Marischal College, published in the year 1702, the orator (Mr. William Smith) makes honorable mention of Dr. Guild, and calls him "a most religious man, of profound learning, unspotted holiness and eminent piety, and compares him to Zacharias; and his wife to Elizabeth, 'The glory of her age and sex for virtue and piety, and her vast donations;' and had she lived in other times, she had undoubtedly been canonized as a saint." She did not long survive her husband, but before she died she erected, at her own expense, a monument to his memory in the churchyard of St. Nicholas in Aberdeen.

The portrait of Matthew Guild, of Aberdeen, the father of the Rev. William Guild, D. D., is now hanging in the Trades Hall of Aberdeen, and is the earliest portrait known to exist of any one by the name of Guild. It was painted by Jamesone, who has been styled the "Van Dyck, of Scotland," and is a very fine specimen. It represents him as a fine looking gentleman, of about forty, or forty-five years of age, having on a felt hat, of the Puritan style, and wearing a frilled collar and a cape cloak. In general features, it bears quite a resemblance to the well-known portraits of John Winthrop. Mr. John Guild of Dundee, obtained permission to have some large size photographs of it taken, one of which was very kindly sent to Mr. Charles H. Guild, who prizes it very highly.

John Guild, Esq., an intelligent and influential Scottish gentleman, residing at Bayfield, Broughty Ferry, Dundee, is a Justice of the Peace, for the County of Forfar, has been for more than thirty years a member of the local Marine Board of Dundee, is a director of the high school of Dundee, and is a prominent officer in several of the largest banks, trust companies and insurance offices in Scotland. In an interesting correspondence, which has been maintained with him, he states that he has the record of the births, baptisms, marriages and deaths in his family since 1715, but cannot trace beyond that. They were before then settled in Clackmanan shire and possessed landed property there; but the records, previous to that, were carried off or destroyed in the troublous times of the church.

He married Margaret Fraser Mackenzie, Culloden, Inverness shire, and had issue four sons.

Their eldest son, William Guild is in Haddingtonshire, where he has a large farm at Castle mains, Dirleton, and is a captain in the Haddingtonshire Rifle Volunteers. In 1880 he was married, in St. Margaret's church, Westminster, by Canon Farrar (author of the Life of Christ), to Caroline Ada Royes, only daughter of the Hon. Charles Royes of Windsor Estate, St. Anne's Bay, Jamaica, and has issue, two daughters, Margaret de Hougham Guild and Sybil Guild.

Their second son, Alexander Mackenzie Guild, has two farms in Fifeshire, East Hall and Rankeillour. He was married in 1882, to Catherine West Marjoribanks, Campton, Haddingtonshire.

Their other two sons are twins. ~~John Erskine Guild, M. A., Edinburgh~~, is a member of the "Society of Writers to Her Majesty's Signet" in that city; and Robert Harrower Guild, M. A., of Edinburgh University, is a partner in the firm of Messrs. Andrew Ogilvie & Co. of Dundee.

Mr. John Guild also states he has a brother, William Guild, residing in Lindores, Fifeshire, who is a register of that town, and a Justice of the Peace for the County of Fife. Mr. William Guild, bought the valuable estate of Lindores, near Newburgh, some fifteen years ago, from the representatives of Admiral Sir Frederick Maitland, in whose flagship Napoleon was taken to St. Helena, and he is the only gentleman of the name in Scotland, who possesses an old, hereditary estate.

Another brother of Mr. John Guild's, who was formerly a large ship-owner in Dundee, is now residing in Perth.

A cousin, James Guild, is a farmer in Haddingtonshire, and has a son, James Lyon Guild, who is also a farmer at North Berwick Abbey, in the same county, and was lately President of the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture.

Some of the relatives of Mr. John Guild went to North Carolina, U. S. A., about 1780, but he has no further record of them.

- 1571 Persons by the name of Gile and Guile are recorded in Surrey and Middlesex. In this year an intention of marriage is recorded at Chertsey, Surrey, between William Staunton, of Westminster, Gentleman, and Prudence Gile, a widow.
- 1613-4 Jan. 10, a marriage license was issued, to John Lamkyn, of London, and Jerningham Guile, of Middlesex.
- 1611 Nov. 18, a marriage license issued to Thomas Thornton, of St. Botolph, Aldgate, London, and Abigail Guile, of St. Olave, Southwark, widow of Richard Guile, Feltmaker.
- 1759 Nov. 17, an intention of marriage recorded between Abraham Leede and Thomasine Gyle, widow, both of St. Martin's in the Field, also between Thomas Wilkinson, of St. Sepulchre's, and Isabella Guile, of St. Lawrence.

The original home of the Guille Family in Guernsey is believed to be on the bay called Saint, in the parish of St. Martin. According to tradition they were there in the time of William the Conqueror. At the dedication of St. Pierre du Bois Church in 1167, John Guille is on the authentic list of those honorable gentlemen present. The name of Guille is said to be Norman, probably the Norman form of the Latin Egidius, English Giles. It is certainly singular that the Scotch arms of Guild are so nearly like those of the Guille family of Guernsey, and might suggest that the families and name originated from one source.

THE HOUSE OF JOHN GUILD, AT DEDHAM, BUILT 1640

POSTERITY OF JOHN GUILD

OF DEDHAM, MASS.

First Generation.

JOHN GUILD,¹ supposed to have been born in England about 1616, came to America in the year 1636, with his brother Samuel and sister Ann. He was admitted to the church at Dedham, Mass., July 17, 1640, and bought in this year twelve acres of upland on which he built a house which was occupied by himself and descendants for more than two hundred years. He was made a freeman May 10, 1643, and as one of the original grantees had assigned to him and his heirs forever, three roods and twelve rods, more or less, to which he added by grants and purchases, considerable other real estate in Dedham, Wrentham, Medfield, and Natick. He was thoroughly honest in all his dealings, industrious and frugal, modest in his deportment, and retiring in his habits. He never held any office, and the town records show his attendance at town meeting but once in several years, and then on an occasion of considerable excitement in relation to making alterations and additions to the meeting-house. He married, June 24, 1645, ELIZABETH CROOKE, of Roxbury, who transferred her relation from the church of that place to the church in Dedham, July 4, 1649. She died Aug. 31, 1669. He died Oct. 4, 1682, leaving the following will:—

Know All Men By These Presents, That I, John Guild of Dedham, in the County of Norfolk, in the Massachusetts Colony, in New England, being at present weake in body, and in expectation of my departure out of this world, do make this my last will and testament, in manner and form as followeth, viz:—

First, I give unto my three children, Samuel, John and Elizabeth all my wearing apparel, to be equally divided among them, as well linen as woolen. I give and bequeath unto my daughter Elizabeth, two cows, one of w^{ch} is at present in her hands, and my bed and all belonging thereunto, as also all that is in my chest that is suitable for her use; Further, I give unto my s^d daughter all my land lying near the Falls, in the dividend called Natick Dividend, to her and her use forever, and one booke of Mr. Burroughs, called Gospel Conversation.

I give and bequeath unto my son John Guild, all my land lying in Wrentham, as well upland as meadow, as also my lott near Meadfield, in the dividend called Meadfield Dividend, to him and his heirs forever; also, I give unto my s^d John, my looms and four sleays, which are suitable for present use, as also one wheel wth ye blades, and a booke called Sound Believer. I give and bequeath unto my son Samuel Guild, all my house lott with my dwelling house and barne, with my land upon Wigwarm Plaine; as also my meadows at Fowle Meadows, and eight acres of land, more or less, at Ragged Plaine, and also all common rights in lands to me in any belonging which are not already mentioned in this my will, and for a full manifestation that this above written is my reall will I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal, this third day of October in the yeare of our lord one thousand six hundred eighty two

In presence of Nathaniel
Sterns, Thomas Metcalf.

(Sig.)

John Guild

SAMUEL GUILD³ (*Samuel*² *John*¹), son of Samuel and Mary (Woodcock) Guild, born in Dedham, Oct. 12, 1677, married, Jan. 8, 1700-1, SARAH HARTSHORN. She was born in Reading, 1679. He moved from Dedham to Windham, Conn., about 1714, thence to Lebanon in 1716, where he died May 29, 1750, leaving the following will:—

In the name of God amen, The 6th day of February 1748-9, I, Samuel Guild, of Lebanon, in the County of Windham, Connecticut Colony, in New England, being sick and weak in body, but of sound mind and memory, thanks be given to God; therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament: That is to say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend to earth to be buried in decent Christian burial, at the discretion of my executors, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God; and as touching such earthly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose of the same in the following manner and form

Imprimis.—I give and bequeath to Sarah my dearly beloved wife, the sum of twenty five pounds in bills of publick credit, of the old tenor, making good to her the discount or sink of s'd bills of credit to be levied out of my estate, together with all my household goods, debts, and movable effects, and likewise my dwelling house, that is to say that part of it which I built, exclusive from the other part which my son Samuel built for himself, to be improved by her during her natural life; and furthermore, so much cyder and apples out of my part of the orchard, as shall be needful for her support during her natural life. Likewise to be allowed a sufficiency of fire wood.

Item,— I give to my well beloved son Samuel Guild, my cane with which I used to walk, or in lieu thereof twenty shillings of ye tenor.

Item,— I give to the heirs of my well beloved son Jeremiah Guild, deceased: in the first place I give to my well beloved granddaughter Cynthia Guild, daughter of ye aboves^d Jeremiah Guild, the sum of five pounds, old tenor.

Item,— I give Mary Guild, daughter of said Jeremiah Guild, the sum of five pounds, old tenor.

Item,— I give Samuel Guild son of the aboves^d Jeremiah Guild, the sum of five pounds in bills of credit of the old tenor.

Item,— I give to my grandson, Jeremiah Guild, son to said Jeremiah Guild, deceased, the sum of five pounds in bills of publick credit of the old tenor.

Item,— I likewise give all the remainder of my estate which I have not already given and disposed of, in this my last will and testament, to my five daughters; that is to say, to my well beloved daughter Sarah, the wife of James Wright; to my well beloved daughter Mary, wife of Thomas Lyman; to Phebe my well beloved daughter, the wife of Samuel Woodward; to my well beloved daughter Elizabeth, the wife of John Sweatland; to my well beloved daughter Abigail, wife of Benjamin Abel; which estate hereby given to these my daughters, here above named, shall be equally divided between them, each one having an equal proportion. Again, I likewise constitute, make and ordain my trusty and well beloved sons-in-law, James Wright and Samuel Woodward, to be my executors of this my last will and testament; and I do hereby disannul, revoke and disallow all and every other former wills, testaments, legacy and bequests executed by me in any ways before named, willed, and bequeathed, ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year above written.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said Samuel Guild as his last will and testament, in the presence of us the subscribers, Jacob Spoford, Robert Bennett, Wm. Lines.

JOHN GUILD³ (Samuel,³ *John*¹), son of Samuel and Mary (Woodcock) Guild, born at Dedham, Mass., Oct. 2, 1687, married ABIGAIL ROBINSON, of Rehoboth, who died Jan. 31, 1793. He was a farmer at Walpole, and died June 15, 1767, leaving the following will:—

In the name of God, Amen, The twenty second day of May, Anno Domini seventeen hundred and sixty seven, in the seventh year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord, King George the Third, over Great Britain I John Guild of Walpole in the County of Suffolk, and province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, husbandman, being of infirm body but of sound mind and memory, (praised be Almighty God for the same) knowing the uncertainty of this present life, and being desirous to settle the outward estate the Lord hath lent me, do therefore make and ordain this my last will and testament in manner and form following, that is to say:— First and principally, I recommend my soul unto the hands of Almighty God my Creator, hoping and receiving full pardon, and remission of all my sins, and salvation through the alone merits of Jesus Christ my redeemer, and my body to the earth to be decently interred according to the directions of my executor, hereafter named. And as touching such worldly estate the Lord hath lent me, my will and meaning is that the same shall be employed and disposed of as hereafter in and by this my last will is expressed, hereby revoking renouncing and declaring null and void all wills and testaments by me formerly made, declaring and appointing this to be my last will and testament, wherein is contained the same.

Imprimis, I will that all my just debts and funeral expenses be well and truly paid, or ordered paid, in convenient time next after my decease by my three sons, viz.: John Guild, Samuel Guild and Joseph Guild, share and share alike.

Item, I do hereby give and bequeath unto my beloved wife Abigail, for her comfortable subsistence during her continuing my widow, the sole use, benefit, income and improvement of the west end of my house, and my orchard on the north side of my house and on the south side of the road leading to Day's, and two acres of land on the north side of my house on the south side of said road leading to said Day's, and also three acres of land down in the swamp, so called, butting on Bullard's land; more also one third of my barn, with three acres of the field southeast of my house and barn to the cross fence by the pound; and also I give my beloved wife two cows and a horse; also, I will that my three sons shall keep them, summer and winter, and also all my indoor movables to be at her disposal forever.

Item, I give my beloved son Joseph Guild and his heirs forever, the west end of my house and barn, etc., and all my land, except my land at the swamp that I disposed of, with all my outdoor movables, with his paying out what shall be hereafter expressed.

Item, I give unto my beloved son John, the sum of five shillings, which is his full portion with what he has already had, with his paying out what is hereafter expressed.

I give to my beloved son Samuel, and his heirs forever, all my land at the swamp, so called, with his paying what shall be hereafter expressed, it being his full portion with what he hath already had.

Item, I give my beloved daughter Abigail Gregory, thirteen pounds six shillings eight pence, within three years after my decease, which is her full portion out of my estate with what she hath already had; that is to say, my said son John Guild paying out to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings ten pence, within three years after my decease; and my son Samuel to pay to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings eleven pence, within three years after my decease; also my son Joseph Guild to pay to my daughter Abigail Gregory, the sum of four pounds eight shillings eleven pence within three years after my decease.

Item, I do hereby constitute and appoint my beloved son Joseph to be my sole executor of this my last will and testament whereof I have hereto set my hand and seal the day and year first above written. JOHN GUILD.

JOSEPH GUILD³ (Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Samuel and Mary (Woodcock) Guild, born at Dedham, Mass., Sept. 13, 1694, married first, Oct. 31, 1723, ABIGAIL FISHER, of Dedham; married second, Dec. 4, 1732, HANNAH CURTIS, of Stoughton; married third, Oct. 17, 1745, BEULAH PECK. He renewed his baptismal covenant, Sept. 20, 1724, and with his wife was received into full communion with the church, Feb. 5, 1727. In 1737 he was a precinct collector. At his death, which occurred Oct. 24, 1751, the appraised value of his property was £1400, a large sum for those days, showing that he was a prosperous farmer. He left the following will:—

In The Name of God, Amen, The twenty fifth day of September, Anno Domini, seventeen hundred fifty one, I Joseph Guild, of Dedham, in the County of Suffolk and Province of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, yeoman being sick and infirm in body but of a disposing mind and memory, (blessed be God) knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, viz.:—

Principally I recommend my soul unto the hand of God who gave it, and my body to the earth to be buried in a decent manner, at the discretion of my executor afterwards believing it shall be raised again at the general judgment, And as touching such worldly estate as God hath given me, I dispose of it in the following manner, my just debts and funeral charges to be paid out of my personal estate:—

Imprimis, I give and bequeath unto Beulah, my beloved wife, the improvement of one third of all my real estate during her natural life, and all the indoor movables, and four pounds of the money I have at interest, being about forty pounds lawful money, and a cow to be at her dispose to ever.

Item, I give and bequeath my beloved son, Joseph, my homestead, my buildings and all my land and all my rights in lands wheresoever they may be found within my possession and reversion and my stock of cattle and all my husbandry tools, He to come into possession of two thirds my real estate at my decease and the other third at my wife's decease, he to pay out the legacies and sums herein made.

Item, I give my beloved son Samuel, eighty pounds lawful money should he arrive at the age of twenty one years, He to work with and for the benefit of my son Joseph during his minority to the time last named, to be paid by my son Joseph, partly of his portion and partly for labor. I appoint Dea. Joseph Wight guardian to my said sons Joseph and Samuel, to be instead of a father to them, to inspect advise and direct their education, morals and to manage the estate with and for them in every case and demand in as full manner as if they were each of them presently of age to act for themselves, and to be paid and to account with each of them at their arriving at the age of twenty one years, and in case the said Dea. Wight should remove out of town or decease before the said minors arrive at the full age of twenty one then I appoint Mr. David Fales in said Dea. Wight's stead to furnish the guardianship of my said sons, etc.

Item, I give my youngest son Heman, twenty six pounds thirteen shillings and four pence in lawful money, to be paid him when he arrives at the full age of twenty one years, (to be paid him by my son Joseph) and a cow.

Item, I give to my two daughters Abigail and Hannah, twenty six pounds thirteen shillings four pence lawful money, each, and each of them a cow, the cow and half the legacies to be paid each of them at their marriage, and the other half ten years after my decease, by my son Joseph; and I give my two daughters, Hannah and Abigail, the indoor movables their mother brought with her to me that shall be found after my decease. I give to my youngest daughter, Desire, twenty six pounds thirteen shillings and four pence in lawful money, and a cow, to be delivered her by my said son Joseph at her arriving at the age of twenty one years.

Item, I give my wearing apparel to my two sons Joseph and Samuel to be equally divided between them.

Item, and after my just debts and funeral charges are paid, what remains of my money or bonds or indoor movables not disposed of I give to my six children to be equally divided among them, and I will and ordain that the above named Joseph Wight to be my executor of this my last will and testament, and in case the said Joseph Wight shall remove out of Dedham or decease before this will be fully executed, I appoint the above named David Fales to finish what shall remain unexecuted of this my will, and I hereby revoke all other wills, testaments and bequests.

NATHANIEL GUILD⁴ (Nathaniel,⁸ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Mehitable (Farrington or Hartshorn?) Guild, born at Walpole, Mass., March 20, 1712, married first, June 12, 1733, MARY BOYDEN, of Wrentham; published to ANNA RHODES, of Stoughton, April 27, 1777. He seems to have been, in his day and generation, a person of considerable enterprise, influence and usefulness. In a deed of land he is styled "Gentleman," and in those days it was no unmeaning title, being accorded with great discrimination. He received a grant of land in Dedham, near the house of John,¹ and acquired other lands by purchase. There was deeded to him a certain mine, which was probably in Stoughton, and for the working of which he formed a company. At Stoughtonham he carried on an iron furnace, where during the revolutionary war was manufactured large quantities of gun carriage wheels, shot, and other munitions of war; and in Sept., 1776, he reported to Richard Devens "that he was making the wheels and the double-headed shot." About this time, also, he petitions "that men in his foundry may be exempted from service in the militia service, so that he may be able to supply garrison wheels and shot for the service," and Sept. 18, 1776, the prayer of the petition was granted, "it being of so great importance for the defence of this and the United States of America." Sept. 6, 1774, he was chosen at a convention of delegates of the people of Suffolk County, one of a select committee for the following purpose: "Resolved, That under the present circumstances, it is incumbent on us to encourage arts and manufactures among us, by all means in our power," and Nathaniel Guild, of Walpole, was appointed one of a committee "to consider of the best ways and means to promote and establish the same, and report to this committee as soon as may be." He is said to have been quite a dignified and good looking man of medium height, and during the latter part of his life, wore a powdered wig, and usually a blue cloak. He died Sept. 10, 1796, leaving the following will:—

In The Name of God Amen I Nathaniel Guild of Walpole, in the County of Norfolk in Commonwealth of Massachusetts, yeoman, considering the uncertainty of human life, and being of sound and perfect mind and memory (blessed be Almighty God for the same) do make and publish this my last will and testament in manner following, that is to say:—

First I give and bequeath unto my beloved daughter Mehitable Guild (in consideration of the many years' service she has done in my house since she became of age) one half of all my real estate and personal, during her natural life: and in case she should marry, she shall quit said half upon receiving one hundred silver dollars, well and truly paid by my executor, and an equal share of my estate with her brothers and sisters, also, I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife Anna Guild, to the heirs of my son Nathaniel Guild, deceased, to my son Samuel Guild, Mary Plympton, Mercy Hewins, Susanna Morse, and Mehitable Guild, one half of my estate both real and personal, during the natural life of my daughter Mehitable Guild and after the decease or marriage of the said Mehitable, I give unto them the whole of my estate, to be equally divided among them, after one hundred dollars has been paid out of the same to the said Mehitable, in case she marries, also, I do appoint my son Dr. Samuel Guild, of Easton my sole executor of this my last will and testament; hereby revoking all former wills by me made.

AARON GUILD⁴ (Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Mehitable (Farrington or Hartshorn?) Guild, born in Dedham, Mass., April 5, 1728, married, first, June 1, 1752, SARAH CONY, daughter of Nathaniel jr., and Sarah Cony. She was born April 18, 1733, died Feb. 18, 1755. He married, second, ANNA CONY, daughter of Nathaniel sen., and Abigail (Ayer) Cony. She was born Sept. 23, 1728. He married, third, Dec. 11, 1777, SARAH MAV, of Stoughton, a widow, with three daughters; he is said to have brought her home, with the daughters and household goods, in an ox-cart, after the primitive style. She died June 6, 1812. He was known as Esquire Aaron, and more commonly as Major Aaron; was an ensign in Capt. Fales' Company, and Col. Nichols' regiment of foot, and was afterward promoted to captain of the same company. When a messenger came galloping through the town announcing that war had begun, he was plowing with his son Aaron in the field, in front of the house. Leaving the plow in the furrow and the oxen standing, he hastened to the house, took his favorite "king's arm," and departed immediately for the scene of action, arriving on the ground in season to aid in firing upon the British troops, who were hastily returning to Boston. During the war he held various offices; he was a member of the committee of safety in 1774, and a muster master in 1775. In 1779 was a member of committee to make provision for the families of non-commissioned officers and soldiers, and in 1780 and 1781 served on a committee of correspondence and safety. He resided at South Dedham, and died there Feb. 3, 1818.

JOSEPH GUILD⁴ (Joseph,⁸ Samuel,³ *John*¹), son of Joseph and Abigail (Curtis) Guild, born at Dedham, Mass., May 11, 1735, married, June 28, 1758, MIRIAM DRAPER, daughter of Ebenezer and Dorothy Draper, of Dedham. She was born March 26, 1739, and died Sept.

26, 1831. The first years of his life were spent at the old ancestral home, whence he removed about the time of his marriage to a farm which he purchased at Dedham Island, where he spent the remainder of his life. He was much esteemed as an honorable, upright and virtuous man, and an energetic, useful citizen. He was captain of a company of minute men at the breaking out of the Revolutionary War.* He was afterward with his command at Ticonderoga, Montreal, and other places. A brief but interesting journal kept by him during this campaign is still preserved. He was one of the committee of safety, also a muster master in 1775, on a committee to make provision for families of non-commissioned officers and privates in 1777, and on a committee of correspondence, inspection and safety in 1780 and 1781. He was parish treasurer eight years, and filled also other offices, such as justice of the peace, selectman, representative to the General Court, etc. He was admitted to full communion with the church May 20, 1764, and died Dec. 28, 1794.

JOHN GUILD⁴ (John,³ John,² John¹), son of John and Mercy (Foster) Guild, born in Wrentham, Mass., Nov. 23, 1712, married CHARITY HUNT, daughter of Ralph Hunt, of Pennington, N. J. She was born in 1721-2, and died Feb. 16, 1766. He entered Harvard College at the age of 18, and after passing through the regular four years' course, graduated in 1734. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Philadelphia Aug. 4, 1737, was ordained, and appointed in 1751 over the church at Hopewell, N. J. His pastorate extended through an eventful period in the history of that church, during which he conducted himself with exemplary wisdom. During the troubles of the Revolutionary War, although by his profession a non-combatant, he was too well known as a firm and earnest patriot to escape the alarms and depredations occasioned by prowling bands of British soldiers. At one time he was obliged to flee for refuge, with his children, to Pennsylvania, the enemy in the meantime ravaging the country, entering his house, destroying his papers and books, converting his church into barracks, mutilating the meeting-house and furniture, and committing other acts of wanton destruction, to the terror of the inhabitants. During the greater part of his ministry he resided on the parsonage farm, but the latter part of his life was passed on the farm where his wife was born. He died there July 10, 1787.

In the name of God Amen. The Ninth day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty seven, I, John Guild of Hopewell in the County of Hunterdon, in the State of New Jersey, being of sound mind and memory, thanks be given to God therefor, Calling to mind the Mortality of my Body, knowing that tis appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament, that is to say, Principally and first of all I Give and Recommend my Soul into the hands of God who gave it, and my Body I Commit to the Earth to be Buried in a Christian and Decent manner at the Discretion of my Executors, and as to Such Worldly Estate wherewith it has pleased God to Bless me in this life I Give, Devise and Dispose of the same in the following manner and form, Imprimis, I order and direct that all my just Debts and funeral Charges be paid as soon as Conveniently may be after my decease out of my moveable estate by my Executors hereinafter to be named. Item I give and bequeath unto my Eldest son John the sum of Fifty Pounds Current money of the State, likewise I do remit and forgive unto him the said John whatsoever may be found due from him to me by Bills, Notes &c, Item, I give and bequeath unto my Second Son Ralph the Plantation on which I now dwell, together with all my Right, Title and Interest thereunto in any wise appertaining or belonging to him his heirs and assigns forever, upon Condition that he the said Ralph pays out as may hereinafter be Directed. Item, I Give unto my youngest Son Benjamin the sum of Fifty pounds, this and the Legacy left my son John are to be paid by my son Ralph above named at the end of four years after my decease or sooner if it can be done, and to my Daughters namely Esther wife of John Welling, Margaret wife of John P. Hunt, Mary wife of John Howell & Mercy wife of Jesse Christopher, and Phebe & Charity, also are single and live with me, to them and each of them an equal share, after Polly Howell and Mercy Christopher together with my Two youngest daughters have as much Given them as to make them Equal to their Eldest Sisters, who I suppose are nearly equal, that then they shall have an Equal share in a Dividend hereinafter to be made share and share alike, after my debts and Funeral Charges are paid, it is my Will that a sum of money not Exceeding one Hundred Pounds to be taken out of my Moveable Estate and Added to a sum that may arrise from the Sale of a Tract of Land which I Bought of Joshua Bunn and hereby ordered to be sold at the Discretion of my Executors, and I do hereby Impower my Executors to sell the same And Good and Sufficient Title to make to the purchaser or purchasers. And the money arrising from the sale be it more or less, to be added to the Hundred Pounds last above mentioned and equally Divided among my six daughters above named, tis my Will that if either of my two youngest Daughters Dies before she Receives her Portion, that then it goes to the Surviving Sister, and also that the Two Shares last mentioned Remaining in the hands of my son Ralph till Respectively Called for, also I give unto my son Ralph a Team of Horses, Together with all my Farming utensils and Implements of Husbandry, Wagons, Plows, Harrows, Sleds, Gears, Hoes, Axes, &c. &c. Two Cows and Six Sheep, likewise all my Carpenters & Joiners Tools, Joynters, Planes, chisels, ghouges, hand Saws &c &c. as to the Goods and Chattels that are in the house let them be and Remain in the House most part of them at least while my Family keeps together for their use and benefit. And also the provisions that may be found in the House laid up for the use of the Family, I order that they may be kept for that use and free from appraisement; Furthermore I do hereby Constitute make and ordain my beloved Son Ralph Together with my beloved Sons in law John Welling and John P. Hunt, Executors of this my Will and Testament, Ratifying, Confirming this and no other to be my last Will. In Witness Whereof I have hereunto put my Hand and Seal the day and year above written.

SAMUEL GUILD⁴ (John,³ John,² *John*¹), son of John and Phebe (Mann) Guild, born at Wrentham, Mass., April 21, 1734, married at Greenfield, Mass., May 29, 1760, RUTH NIMS, who was born March 7, 1744, and died Aug. 14, 1804. He settled at Leyden, Mass. About 1790 he bought some land in Paris, N. Y., for his sons, Samuel, Joel, and Elijah. In those days the settlers allowed their cattle to run at large, and very often would spend many days looking for them. It seems, at one of these times in hunting for the cattle, they came to the Unadilla River several miles from their home, and being so well pleased with the country wrote to their father to come and buy the land. Accordingly, in the spring of 1792, he sold all his possessions in Massachusetts, put the gold and silver into the saddle-bags packed with old clothes, and started for the new home on horseback, alone, over new roads and unbeaten paths. When he came to a place to stay over night, he would throw the saddle-bags carelessly under the bar-room table as though they contained nothing valuable, but being careful that no one but himself handled them. In this way he traveled until he reached what is now West Winfield, N. Y., and he purchased a large tract of land on which he built a house, the first in town. His son Elijah followed him; the other two stayed in Paris, N. Y. He finished paying for his land by cutting timber and converting it into potash, hauling it twenty-two miles, and taking the money to Boston on horseback to make the payments. He built the first church in town, and was an active member as long as he lived, and at his death made provision in his will for its support. He assisted in organizing the first school, and was always an active supporter of the cause of education. His house was always open to the pioneers who came to seek homes for themselves in the wilderness, and his whole life was one of activity and usefulness. Before his death, which occurred July 18, 1816, he had the satisfaction of seeing his children and many of his grandchildren settle on or near the old homestead.

WILL OF SAMUEL GUILD.

In the name of God Amen I Samuel Guild of Litchfield in the County of Herkimer and State of New York Joiner, Being by age in a declining circumstance of life but enjoying a comfortable state of health and of a sound and composed mind and Judgment, (thanks be to God for it) Calling to mind my own Mortality and Knowing that it is apportioned unto all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and Testament in manner and form following Namely:—

Principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of that sovereign merciful God who gave it hoping and believing that through the active and passing obedience of Jesus Christ to have the free pardon and forgiveness of all my sins and inherit everlasting life, and my body I commit to the earth to be devoutly buried at the discretion of my executors not doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give and dispose of the same in the following manner namely.

I give and bequeath the interest of one hundred dollars for the support of the gospel of the Baptist denomination to be Conferred on the person or elder who fills the desk in the south meeting-house in Litchfield in New York State.

I give and bequeath the interest of one hundred dollars for the benefit of educating children to be conferred on the man or woman who shall teach the school nearest the place where I now live.

And in regard to my real estate there being a piece of land lying in Plainfield New York being part of the lot number three in what is called Cochran's Patent there being mills and dwelling houses on said land which I lay no claim to but wish to have them continue where they are for the use and benefit of the owners likewise pine timber on the said land which I wish to let those persons have benefit of to whom it is given all except that which is marked for myself which I give and bequeath to Anson Guild, said land being now divided into four parts bounded West on land deeded to Samuel Guild jr., and East on the east end of said lot.

I give and bequeath the third part of said land from the South to my son Joel Guild to him and his heirs forever.

I give and bequeath the fourth and North part of said land to the heirs of Elijah Guild deceased to them and their heirs forever.

There being another piece of land lying Chiefly in Litchfield bounded west on land of Oliver Guild and south on the County line and east deeded to Anson Guild, and west on land of Hezekiah Green and others, It is my will that said land be divided nearly north and south equal as to quantity and quality, by giving the west part six acres the most land, I give and bequeath the west half of said land to my son Oliver Guild and the east half of said land to my grandson Anson Guild to their only use and benefit forever.

Likewise there being another piece of land lying in Plainfield bounded West that was Jesse Clark's, deceased and south in Doc^t Hackleys land and east on land deeded to Elijah Guild and north on the County line, it is my will that said land be divided about north and south equally into three parts as to number of acres.

I give and bequeath the east third part and all the wood and timber on the middle third part north of the turnpike road to my daughter Olive Esen and to her heirs to their only use and benefit forever.

And the middle third part except the wood and timber north of the turnpike road I give and bequeath to my daughter Sybil Wilcox to her only use and benefit forever.

And I give and bequeath to the heirs of my daughter Ruth Green deceased the west and third part of said land to each of them and their heirs to their only use and benefit forever.

And in regard to my personal estate I give to my grandson Anson Guild my desk, my gun, and my watch, — and all the rest of my personal estate I wish to have prized by wise and faithful men appointed for that purpose and then divided into eight equal parts, five parts of which I give and bequeath to my five living children namely, Samuel Guild jr., Joel Guild, and Oliver Guild, Olive Esen and Sybil Wilcox one part I give to the heirs of Elijah Guild deceased, and one part I give to the heirs of Ruth Green deceased and one part I give to the heirs of Consider Guild deceased, on condition that they give a quit claim deed of a certain acre of land that their father sold to Mr. Eaton before he died, to each of them to their only use and benefit forever.

Furthermore I constitute appoint and ordain Oliver Guild above named as the sole executor of this last will and testament charging him to be faithful to his trust as he must expect to answer it both to God and man, and regard to all my connections and friends as a dying man, I would call upon you to remember that God has made you for his use and service and as your works are found to be so it will fare with you in the coming world, therefore let each one of us at all times remember what God spake by the prophet Amos "Prepare to meet thy God oh Israel."

In testament of this being my last will and testament I have hereto set my hand and seal this sixth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifteen.

Children :

- 802 Everitt Emmett,⁷ b. Delphi, N. Y., May 6, 1811; m. Jan. 1, 1838, Susan P. Darrow. His early advantages for obtaining an education were rather limited, and after leaving the public school he studied theology under the direction of Rev. Stephen R. Smith, a prominent Universalist minister then of Clinton, N. Y. In 1835, he commenced to officiate as a clergyman. His theological views were somewhat peculiar, resembling those of the Hicksite Quakers, and he called himself a Quaker Universalist. He was quite fond of debate upon all the exciting questions of the day and was a somewhat voluminous writer, contributing numerous articles to the newspapers and magazines. In 1844 he published a denominational book entitled "The Universalist's Book of Reference," and in 1875, a little work called "The Pro and Con of Supernatural Religion." From a brief sketch of his life in the book last named, we extract the following: "As a man and a citizen he was without reproach. In theology, he was a Pantheist; in philosophy, a Materialist; in medicine, an Eclectic; in religion, a Rationalist, and in morals, a Utilitarian." He died at Binghampton, N. Y.; the widow resides at Walton, N. Y. Child: (803) Mary Elizabeth, b. Aug. 12, 1840.

NATHANIEL GUILD* (Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Rebecca (Hart) Guild, born at Walpole, Mass., Sept. 19, 1770, married Feb. 15, 1798, Caty Willett, who was born Sept. 9, 1776, and died March 21, 1861. His father dying when he was twenty-three years of age, the entire family was left in his charge. He was a man of quick and generous impulses, thoroughly honest and upright in his dealings, and thereby gained the respect and confidence of his neighbors. In 1799, he was appointed sergeant of a company in the 3d Regiment, 2d Brigade, 1st Division of the Militia of Massachusetts. In 1803 he was commissioned by Gov. Strong, ensign of the same company, and in 1806 he received a captain's commission which he held until he resigned in 1810. During the blockade of the War of 1812, he carted with his own team, two pair of oxen and a horse, a load of leather to New York for his brother

Samuel, and brought back a load of molasses to Boston, making the trip in three weeks. For several years he was a member of the board of assessors and selectmen. In his religious views he was of the old type of Unitarian faith, and in politics a regular Jeffersonian Democrat. He followed the occupation of farming at Walpole, where he died March 24, 1848.

HERMON GUILD* (Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Rebecca (Hart) Guild, born at Walpole, Mass., Jan. 24, 1773, married Dec., 1803, MARGARET PETTEE, who was born Dec. 25, 1783, and died Oct. 30, 1846. During the War of 1812 he was engaged in transporting merchandise from Boston to Providence. The house in which he was born has been in the hands of the Guild family for several generations, and was torn down about 1855. He was a farmer who thoroughly enjoyed his work and surroundings. Thrifty, and of the strictest integrity, he greatly increased his possessions, and was respected by all who knew him. He was a very conscientious observer of the Sabbath, not only for himself and family, but also for "his cattle and the stranger within his gates." The only church in town at that time was called "Orthodox," but in later years has been known as the Unitarian. He built a substantial granite tomb on the ground which had been "given for a burial ground" by his grandfather Nathaniel, who was the first person buried there. He died Oct. 11, 1847.

SAMUEL GUILD⁶ (Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Rebecca (Hart) Guild, born at Walpole, Mass., March 18, 1777, married Nov. 25, 1806, SARAH MEARS, daughter of James and Mary Mears. She died, age 83 years. His early days were passed on his father's farm, and he received only such schooling as could be obtained during a few weeks in the winter. At about fifteen years of age, he left the paternal roof, and taking all his worldly possessions in a handkerchief, walked to Roxbury, and commenced learning the trade of a tanner with Mr. Samuel Heath, whose tannery was situated at what was then called "Hog's Bridge." Here he faithfully served during the period of his apprenticeship, and remained also for some years afterward. Upon leaving "Tanner Heath's," he hired the old tannery belonging to Mr. James Mears sen., which was situated nearer what is now the center of Roxbury and embraced also a large tract of unimproved land, which at the time was considered as extending into the wilderness, and when Mr. James Mears jr. built his dwelling-house upon a part of the premises he was considered almost insane to move to such a remote place. The whole of the tannery estate, including the house of Mr. Mears, was subsequently purchased by Mr. Guild, and here he continued to reside during the remainder of his life, a period of fifty-five years. There always seemed to be a sort of magnetic attraction in the old spot, which for many years kept the members of the family together, and nearly all of them settled upon some portion of the estate. Mr. Guild enjoyed the respect and confidence of the community in which he lived, and was often selected to fill situations of trust and responsibility. He was several times chosen representative to the General Court, served two years as senator from Norfolk County, was president of the People's Bank twenty-five years, and several years president of the Institution for Savings. His death occurred Jan. 12, 1862 (See Portrait).

Children :

- 840 Mary Davis,⁷ b. Roxbury, Dec. 23, 1807; d. Jan. 25, 1861; m. Nov. 14, 1839, Daniel F. Child. He was born May 10, 1803; was for many years connected with the Hinckley Locomotive Works, and in all the situations of life was a thoroughly conscientious and upright man. He was a warm and firm friend of Rev. Theodore Parker, and a decided and outspoken advocate of the abolition of slavery at a time when such a course had not become popular. He died Oct. 18, 1876. Mrs. Child was endowed with great personal beauty and unusual loveliness of character. Children: (1) Mary Louisa Everett, b. May 27, 1841; m. Oct. 5, 1863, Francis Bush jr., who died Aug. 16, 1874. - 841 Samuel,⁷ b. July 16, 1809; d. Sept. 19, 1846; m. Jan. 11, 1844, Elizabeth Baker Davis Thayer. He attended the public schools of his native town until he commenced his duties as assistant to his father in the manufacture of leather, and with his brother James succeeded to the business which for many years was prosperously carried on under the firm name of S. & J. Guild. In early life he evinced a fondness for music, and was for some years a member of the choir of the Unitarian church of Roxbury. He was quiet and unobtrusive in his ways, and a man of excellent business ability; had no children.

CHESTER GUILD⁶ (Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Nathaniel and Rebecca (Hart) Guild, born at Walpole, Mass., April 19, 1791, married at Boston, June 13, 1822, HARRIET FISKE, daughter of William and Eunice (White) Fiske, of Boston. She was born Jan. 3, 1799, and died July 6, 1872. Until fourteen years of age he resided with his widowed mother in the family of an older brother on the homestead. About this time he went to Roxbury where his brother Samuel was engaged in the manufacture of leather, and became an inmate of his family, continuing in his employ until 1812, when he commenced business on his own account on what is now Washington street, Roxbury, then and now a great thoroughfare of the land approach to Boston. It became the center of the leather interest, the custom being for the shoemakers to take their goods to market by their own teams and on their return to purchase supplies for another week. In starting business his main reliance was upon the thorough practical knowledge of it he had obtained, supplemented by the small amount of five hundred dollars which he had by economy been able to save during his minority, and five hundred dollars received from his father's estate. Soon after his marriage he purchased a beautiful estate on Main street, where he resided for many years and where all his children were born. Much of his early success in the struggle to acquire a business capital he attributed to the faithful wife by whose aid in the performance of the household duties in a cheerful and economical manner he was enabled to steadily increase the business. In 1845, he purchased the extensive tannery in Charlestown, known as "Tufts' tannery," and shortly after moved his family to the new town of Somerville. Here he erected a comfortable homestead which for many years was the happy center where the children and grandchildren delighted to assemble, and where the neighbors and friends were always sure of a hearty welcome. He became thoroughly identified with the place of his adoption and sought to promote its interests in every laudable way, and during the war his patriotic efforts were unceasing. Esteemed and respected by his fellow-citizens, he was repeatedly solicited to accept offices of honor and trust; but being modest and retiring in his manners, he preferred the quiet enjoyment of his own pleasant home with the society of the devoted partner of his life, to mingling in the bustle of public affairs. Yielding, however, to a sense of duty, he occasionally acceded to the wishes of his friends, serving upon the school committee of the town of Roxbury, as a member of the board of selectmen of Somerville and representative in the General Court, performing the duties incident to these positions to the entire satisfaction of his constituents. He was an honored member of the Masonic fraternity, having been a charter member of Washington lodge, Roxbury, being at one time Worthy Master; was also charter member of John Abbott lodge, of Somerville, also member of the Unitarian society of Charlestown. He retired from active business, having acquired a competency, and relinquished the business to his sons. Having passed a delightful winter with his wife in Florida, on returning he died of heart disease at Savannah, Ga., March 7, 1869. (See portrait.)

- 887 Benjamin Franklin,⁷ b. Dec. 8, 1833, m. Mar. 8, 1871, Mary C., daughter of John M. and Mary C. (Loud) Whittemore of Boston. She was born August 4, 1842. Mr. Guild received his education in the public schools in Boston. After leaving school he was engaged in the fancy goods and fine art business in Boston and New York as a bright and successful salesman. The firm in New York failing in 1859, his services were engaged by his brother who had just started the Commercial Bulletin. He became a partner and part owner of the paper in 1866. In the newspaper business Mr. Guild found his vocation, and a field for his keen business instincts, originality and energy. He has quite a reputation as a writer, and a humorous column in the Bulletin, "The Spice of Life," an original feature of his, is widely quoted by the press. Mr. Guild is a member of the Merchants and Algonquin Clubs, the Mechanics Charitable Association, the Masonic Fraternity, Christian Union and other Boston organizations. He was Sponsor of the Algonquin Club, and as Secretary of the Merchants Club, a business organization of seventy-five of the most prominent business men of Boston, was presented in 1886 with an elegant hall clock costing $500, with a most flattering address from the club, testifying to his worth as a business man and a citizen of Boston. They reside on Commonwealth avenue. (See portrait.) Children : (888) Mary,⁸ b. Feb. 6, 1872; (889) Heven,⁸ b. April 30, 1875.

REUBEN GUILD⁶ (Joel,⁵ Aaron,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Joel and Hannah (Weatherbee) Guild, born at South Dedham, Mass., Sept. 20, 1793, married first, April 22, 1818, OLIVE MORSE, daughter of George and Irene (Pettee) Morse, of South Dedham. She was born Oct. 5, 1793, and died May 27, 1853. He married second, Jan. 19, 1869, ALICE NICHOLS CHASE, daughter of Humphrey and Rebecca Chase, of Haverhill, and widow of Samuel Boyce, of Lynn. She was born July 23, 1804. During his boyhood and early youth, he worked upon the farm and attended the district school, where he acquired a fair knowledge of the common branches, as taught at that period. At the age of sixteen, he entered his father's shop as an apprentice to learn the trade of a blacksmith, remaining until his majority, when feeling a desire to see something of the world, he passed a short time traveling in New England and Canada, after which he resumed his regular occupation. In the spring of 1816, he located at West Dedham and entered in the business of blacksmithing and carriage-making in connection with Samuel Thwing, a partnership which continued for twelve years, after which time he carried on the business alone, until the infirmities of age compelled him to engage in other pursuits. For a time he kept a livery stable, and in connection therewith maintained an omnibus line between West Dedham and Dedham Centre. For more than thirty years he was an undertaker and superintendent of the village cemetery. Mr. Guild's public offices were not many nor onerous. In 1820 he was commissioned as a military officer, and rose from the rank of ensign to that of captain, by which title he was for many years known. He was frequently called upon to serve as "committee man" for the district school, his interest in educational matters and his genial, pleasant ways rendering him especially qualified for that work. About the year 1840, he was elected deacon of the Unitarian church, a position which he held for nearly forty years, and for a long time he was superintendent of the Sunday-school. Towards the close of his life his religious convictions and experiences underwent a change, and he espoused the evangelical views as held by the Baptists, and on June 10, 1877, being in his eighty-fifth year, he made a public profession of his faith, and was baptized in the "Great Pond" at Dedham. In his domestic relations Mr. Guild was peculiarly happy. With the wife of his youth, who was a lady of uncommon loveliness of person and character, and more than ordinary intelligence, he lived for forty years, and never were husband and wife better suited to each other, and never were two happier together. He died after a brief illness, March 3, 1882.

JOEL GUILD⁶ (Jesse,⁵ Jacob,⁴ Israel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Jesse and Zilpah (Smith) Guild, born at West Halifax, Vt., Aug. 14, 1793, married in 1819, MARGARET KENNEDY, daughter of Alexander Kennedy, of Halifax, Vt. She died Dec. 25, 1874. They moved in the "great immigration" that succeeded the hard times of 1817 to what was then a portion of the "Great West," to Northern Pennsylvania, and settled in 1820 in the beautiful valley of the Sheshequin, on the Susquehanna River in Bradford County. In 1822 they moved to Springfield in the same county. On their advent into the country it was a vast wilderness, densely timbered and with very few settlers, most of those being from New England. They fought with strong hearts and willing hands the pioneer's battle with the wilderness, and lived to see it grow to a well-cultivated and thrifty region. Mr. Guild was a man of intelligence and standing among the pioneers, and brought up his family in a manner that gave them the heritage of honest lives, industry and intelligence. GEORGE GUILD⁶ (*Israel*⁵, *Jacob*⁴, *Israel*³, *Samuel*², *John*¹), son of Israel and Rhoda (Graves) Guild, born at Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 17, 1798; married Hannah Greene. In 1836 he moved from Amherst, Mass., to Milwaukee, Wis., as one of the first settlers and master builders; he died there Oct. 17, 1842.

- 1118 George Porter,⁷ b. at Amherst, Jan. 19, 1832; m. June 30, 1859, Ann Jane, daughter of Squire and Hannah (Compton) Moore. She was born in New Jersey, July 17, 1835. It was his very great misfortune to have been born blind. After the death of his parents he was sent to the "Institute for the Blind" in New York City, where he remained for six years in acquiring his preparatory education. His sense of touch became so acute that he was able to read the raised print in use by the blind, although it were covered by several inches of silk. In 1849, as the result of a surgical operation, he was enabled to see to a very limited degree, scarcely sufficient however for him to distinguish between his most intimate friends. After graduating from the institution in 1850, he taught for two years, receiving at first but an exceedingly small compensation, but which was before long increased. In 1852 he entered Shurtleff College at Alton, Ill., where he defrayed his expenses mainly by performing such manual labor and menial duties as were required in the college, and graduated in 1856, receiving his degree of A. B., and in 1859 received the degree of M. A. He was ordained to the Christian ministry as a clergyman of the Baptist denomination in December, 1856. He supplemented his theological education by a medical course, and in 1864 received the degree of M. D. His ministerial labors have been more than ordinarily successful, and he has been instrumental in establishing new churches and materially aiding in erecting houses of worship. The number of persons who have received the ordinance of baptism at his hands is about one thousand. He has officiated as the financial agent for the American Publishing House for the Blind, and has invented a system of writing for the blind which has proved of considerable utility. He is now located at Deland, Fla., where he is engaged in instructing young men of color, and preparing them for the ministry. Children: (1119) Jesse B.,⁸ b. Dec. 6, 1862, d. Dec. 10, 1865; (1120) Levi K.,⁸ b. Oct. 1, 1865, d. April 22, 1881; (1121) Bessie,⁸ b. July 15, 1871.

ALMOND GUILD⁶ (Elijah,⁵ Samuel,⁴ John,³ John,² John,¹), son of Elijah and Anna (Esen) Guild, born at Plainfield, N. Y., June 13, 1796, married, Oct. 24, 1822, MIRANDA WALKER, who was born May 11, 1805, and died June 23, 1852. His father died when he was ten years of age, leaving the mother with six children on a small farm. The mother, after two years, married Nathan Cook, a hardy pioneer who was strong and robust himself, and had no sympathy for those who were not. The step-sons had to make extra exertions, which injured their constitutions so as to render them unfit for hard work later in life, and laying a foundation for disease and premature decay. Mr. Guild left the farm when quite a young man to learn the blacksmith's trade, and settled at West Winfield, N. Y., working until his health failed, when he retired to a small place. He was a member of the Baptist church which his grandfather built. He took no active part in politics and preferred the society of his wife and children. He died August 30, 1854. (See portrait.)

JAMES GUILD⁷ (Samuel,⁶ Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Samuel and Sarah (Mears) Guild, born at Roxbury, Mass., July 12, 1811, married first, Sept. 15, 1842, SOPHIA B., daughter of Isaac and Eliza (Billings) Child. She was born August 11, 1822, a lady of uncommon amiability and loveliness of character, who died Dec. 2, 1857. He married second, June 1, 1859, ANNIE E., daughter of Jeremiah Gore. She was born at Portland, Me., Jan. 1, 1826, and died June 4, 1868. He married third, Sept. 2, 1870, CAROLINE SNOWDEN WHITMARSH. His education was acquired at the "Free School at Roxburie," an ancient endowed institution which is now known as the Roxbury Latin School, and he was one of the trustees of the property left for its support. He learned the leather business, and with his brother Samuel succeeded his father in the establishment long occupied by him, and previously by his grandfather and great-grandfather. Here they continued for several years until the firm was dissolved by the death of his brother, soon after which he relinquished the business to a younger brother, Frederick. Upon the organization of the Norfolk Guards in 1838, he was elected second lieutenant, and subsequently became commander of the corps. Mr. Guild was for many years one of the directors of the People's National Bank, of Roxbury, at one time its president, and also president of the Roxbury Gas Light Co. He possessed refined and cultivated tastes, which had been improved by travel at home and abroad. Up to the time of his death, which occurred May 3, 1887, he was a reliable supporter of the Unitarian society, and held in the highest esteem. No children. (See portrait.)

HENRY GUILD⁷ (Samuel,⁶ Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹), son of Samuel and Sarah (Mears) Guild, born at Roxbury, Mass., January 13, 1824. His education was pursued at the public schools at Roxbury, supplemented by a course at the Chauncy Hall School of Boston. He entered the counting-house of B. C. Clark & Co., on Commercial wharf, one of the largest firms engaged in the West India trade. Here he acquired that thorough knowledge of business which enabled him to successfully conduct an extensive trade of his own for many years, and in which he accumulated a handsome property. He withdrew from the business several years ago, and engaged in the care and management of his own property and as confidential agent in the care of other estates. At the time of his decease, July 27, 1886, and for several years previous, he was president of the People's National Bank, at Roxbury. He possessed a genial disposition, had many friends, and was universally esteemed. Unmarried. (See portrait.)

CHESTER GUILD⁷ (Chester,⁶ Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *John*¹) son of Chester and Harriet (Fiske) Guild, born at Roxbury, Mass., Dec. 13, 1823, married March 9, 1853, MARY ELIZA SWEETSER, daughter of Thomas W. and Rachel (Cross) Sweetser of Salem, Mass. After a primary preparation in a private school, he continued his education in the Grammar and Latin High School, of Roxbury, until 1838, when he commenced business life in the leather store of Chester Guild & Co., located on Blackstone street, in Boston, which was the great center of this extensive trade. Here he remained in the same building for a period of twenty-three years, and in the mean time the firm had become changed by the withdrawal of the junior partner, and he being admitted, the firm of Chester Guild & Sons was formed, which continued for many years with great prosperity. In 1863 the condition of his health was such as to necessitate a temporary cessation of the active duties of the business, and he accordingly withdrew from the firm. Upon his restoration to health he continued in another branch of the leather business, until January, 1880, when he was invited to accept the presidency of the Manufacturers' Bank of Boston, a position which he still holds. Mr. Guild is universally respected for his integrity and keen sense of honor, and is a gentleman of refined and cultivated taste and manners. He collected a very select, though not a large library, the sale of which a few years since attracted considerable attention. He is quite a connoisseur in choice engravings. Although he has often been solicited to accept political preferment, he has persistently declined with the single exception of aiding to secure purity of elections, by performing the duties of warden in one of the voting precincts of Boston.

CHARLES HENRY GUILD⁷ (Chester,⁶ Nathaniel,⁵ Nathaniel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² *Fohn*¹), son of Chester and Harriet (Fiske) Guild, born at Roxbury, Mass., June 11, 1825, married Nov. 21, 1848, MARGARET JANE FOX, daughter of William and Abigail (Eaton) Fox, of Woburn. She was born Jan. 7, 1828. Mr. Guild received his education in the public schools of Roxbury, except the last year and a half, when he attended the Chauncy Hall School in Boston. From the age of fifteen to twenty-one he was away from home acquiring a practical and thorough knowledge of the arts of tanning and currying in all their branches. He was then, with his brother Chester, admitted as a member of the firm of Chester Guild & Sons, which firm continued under the same style thirty-five years, and discontinued then only under the mandate of the Massachusetts law, which forbids general titles in a special co-partnership. The business having been very successful, in 1876 he retired, and has devoted his time to study and the collection of rare books. He became a resident of Somerville, Mass., soon after its incorporation as a separate municipality, and has served the town in various public capacities, having been a member of the board of selectmen and school committee, president of the board of trustees of the Public Library, and three times elected a representative to the State Legislature, serving on several important committees. He has also been a trustee in a savings institution, and served several years on the parish committee of the Orthodox Congregationalist church; and in all public, religious, educational and patriotic enterprises he has been a zealous worker and liberal giver. In the preparation of this volume Mr. Guild has taken an active part, and but for his encouragement, kind advice and assistance, the second volume of the Guild Family would have been left for some one in future generations to prepare. From a personal acquaintance which has ripened into a warm friendship, the compiler would testify to his worth as a noble, generous man. He may well be proud of an ancestry from which such qualities are inherited.

Curtis Guild

CURTIS GUILD⁷ (Curtis,⁶ Moses,⁵ Moses,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Samuel,² John¹), son of Curtis and Charlotte L. (Hodges) Guild, born at Boston, Jan. 13, 1827, married Sept. 22, 1858, SARAH CROCKER COBB, daughter of David G. W. and Abby (Crocker) Cobb, of Taunton, Mass.

It was the early ambition of Mr. Guild, as it was also the design of his father, that he should be allowed the advantages of a collegiate education at Harvard, where his father had won honorable distinction, and his studies in the grammar and high schools were pursued with this end in view. But these aspirations were doomed to disappointment. Entering as a clerk the mercantile house of Barnard, Adams & Co., on Commercial Wharf in Boston, with a small salary, he devoted his business hours to the interests of his employers, by rendering himself thoroughly acquainted with the details of the reception and shipping of cargoes of merchandise, and the principles and laws of commercial transactions, etc. During the two or three years in which he was thus engaged, he also improved his leisure time by the cultivation of those literary tastes to which he was more inclined. Having made the acquaintance of the late Charles O. Rogers, who at the time was employed as chief clerk in the office of the Boston Journal, he was engaged to become his assistant, and among other duties he was assigned those of writing critiques of the drama and reports of public assemblies, especially those of a political or military character. While thus engaged as one of the regular staff of the Journal, Mr. Guild became a contributor to the Knickerbocker Magazine of New York, then in its prime, and to several other literary periodicals.

His abilities for newspaper service becoming recognized, overtures were made to him to take the chief-clerkship in the office of the Evening Traveller, which he accepted, and in 1856, he was admitted to partnership in the firm. The experience which he had now acquired enabled him to suggest many improvements in the management of a daily paper. Among the original features created by him, was the displayed bulletin now to be seen in front of every newspaper office. After a connection with the Traveller for some years, Mr. Guild, on Jan. 1, 1859, founded and began the publication of The Commercial Bulletin, as its sole editor and proprietor. In this paper he materialized his ideas of a journal devoted especially to extended and special reports of the merchandise markets, the manufacturing interests of the country, the record of the business changes and failures throughout the United States, insurance and financial news, with other commercial features then unknown, but now generally adopted. The Bulletin at once adapted itself to a desirable circulation, not only in New England, but in the West and South; where previously a Boston paper had been rarely found. The marked adaptation of the paper to supply a conscious want, was at once perceived and acknowledged. It became a success, and from time to time has required an increase in size, with constantly enlarging editions.

After some years of close application to the management of the details of the paper, Mr. Guild, in the summer of 1867, left Boston for an extended tour in Europe. One result of this voyage was a series of sketches in the Bulletin, afterwards published in book form under the title of "Over the Ocean." They were exceedingly popular in both forms. To this day the book is a recognized standard authority as a book of travel in Europe, and is used as a text-book in some of the larger private schools. This first book was supplemented by a companion volume called "Abroad Again," embodying the result of his observations made on another tour taken six years later, in 1873.

An active man of business, Mr. Guild has not found it possible to accept many calls to public offices, but in 1875 and 1876, he served as a member of the common council of Boston, and in 1878 was one of the aldermen. In both these situations, the same integrity and enterprise which characterized his own business affairs, were brought to bear, with an ardent love for his native city. As a member of the city government he was noted as an advocate of public parks and a vigorous defender of the Boston Common, whose destruction was repeatedly sought by certain companies and capitalists.

He was one of the original members of the Commercial Club of Boston. For three years he served as its secretary, four years as its vice-president, and in 1882 and 1883 as its president. He is also president of the Bostonian Society, an association formed for the purpose of promoting the study of the history of Boston and the preservation of its antiquities, whether in the form of movable articles, or those grander monuments, the ancient, historic buildings.

Curtis Guild is known not only as a polished and vigorous writer, but also as a graceful and interesting speaker, as his public orations, his farewell address to Charlotte Cushman on the occasion of her retiring from the stage, his address at the semi-centennial of the English High School, his oration at the centennial celebration in the town of South Dedham, and many other efforts in the same line, testify.

JOSEPH HENRY GUILD⁷ (Chauncey,⁸ John,⁸ Naphtali,⁸ Ebenezer,⁸ Samuel,⁸ John,⁸), son of Chauncey and Celinda (Bourn) Guild, born at Pawlet, Vt., Sept. 18, 1827, married first, May 15, 1853, JANE MARIA BURTON, daughter of Nathan and Charlotte (Graves) Burton. She died Feb. 2, 1859. He married second, Dec. 17, 1867, ALTA L. NELSON, daughter of Almon and Lucina (Harmon) Nelson of Pawlet. She was born Aug. 31, 1848. Having lost his mother at the age of ten years he was thrown upon his own resources, the tin-shop which his father carried on barely supporting the family. During his minority he was employed in farm labor, and for a time taught school. He early evinced an inclination for the medical profession, and as opportunity offered was engaged in the study of medicine. At the age of twenty he entered a store as clerk at Salem, N. Y., and soon after purchased the stock, and formed a co-partnership under the style of King & Guild. This not proving profitable it was dissolved after three years, and he moved to Sandusky, Ohio. Here he engaged in cabinet-making and continued until 1856, when the establishment was destroyed by fire, entailing upon him a heavy loss. He then went to Baltimore, Md., and started a mercantile agency, a novel thing at that time, in which he met with success, and moving to New York City he continued the same business. During all this time his medical studies had not been neglected, and in the spring of 1851 he graduated with honor from the New York Medical College, receiving the first prize. While on a visit to Rupert, Vt., where his family had been living, he was called upon to treat in cases of malignant diphtheria, during a fatal epidemic of that dread disease, and the success of his treatment was such, he was induced to yield to solicitations to remain and settle in that place instead of New York, where he had intended to locate. A description of this epidemic and its treatment was published in the New York Medical Times, and excited marked attention. He continued in the practice of his profession until 1869, when the increase of his present business, the manufacture of the Green Mountain Asthma Cure, compelled him to devote himself entirely to this specialty. He served six years in succession in the Legislature of Vermont, and as senator from Bennington County in 1876, when he declined further political honors. Dr. Guild has manifested a great interest in the prosperity of the place of his adoption, and has done much to improve and advance its spiritual and temporal welfare. He is the leading official member of the M. E. church and superintendent of the Sabbath-school.

The features in the character of Dr. Guild, are an indomitable perseverance that shrinks from no obstacles, however insurmountable they may appear, a retentive memory, and such a child-like trust in Divine Providence as renders him willing to do his whole duty toward God and man, as far as it is made plain to him. He early adopted the resolve to devote a tenth of his income to God, a custom he has continued to scrupulously observe, and modestly attributes his wonderful success in life entirely to the favor of his Divine Master. He owns a beautiful residence at Rupert, and a fine cottage at Lake George where he spends a portion of the summer with his family. (See portrait.)

SAMUEL ELIOT GUILD⁷ (Benjamin,⁴ Benjamin,⁵ Benjamin,⁴ John,⁸ John,² John¹), son of Benjamin and Eliza (Eliot) Guild, born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 8, 1819, married Feb. 9, 1847, ELIZABETH H. RICE, daughter of Henry Gardner Rice of Boston. He fitted for college at a private school, and entered Harvard, where he held a high rank, and graduated with distinction in 1839. After leaving college he studied law with William Gray and Theophilus Parsons, of Boston, and completed his studies at the Law School in Cambridge. He was admitted to Suffolk Bar in 1841, and established himself in the practice of his profession in Boston, where he resided until his decease. In the practice of his profession he pursued the course which was most congenial to his taste, a department which, though it does not bring the practitioner conspicuously before the public, opens to him an honorable and useful career. As a Chamber-counsel, conveyancer and manager of property, his good sense, his conscientious fidelity to his clients, and his great and uniform industry gave him all the success which his desires coveted or anticipated. He was a gentleman of high moral instincts, ever ready to promote the best interests of the community; kind, charitable, endowed with all the amenities of a gentleman, having a pleasant word for all with whom he might have intercourse. He died at his summer residence at Nahant, July 16, 1862.

POSTERITY OF SAMUEL GUILLE

OF HAVERHILL, MASS.

First Generation.

SAMUEL GUILLE,^{1*} brother of John Guild, was for a brief period at Dedham, and appears to have been one of the first settlers of Newbury, but did not remain long, for in 1640 he was one of the twelve who settled Pentucket, now known as Haverhill. He was made a freeman by the General Court in 1642, and married Sept. 1, 1647, JUDITH DAVIS, daughter of James Davis, one of the original settlers, and an emigrant from Marlborough, England. By careful examination of the records we do not find that he was interested to any degree in town or church affairs. In 1650, Samuel Gild made choice of land at Little River. In 1652, Samuel Gild received ten acres of the second division. In 1658, Samuel Guile enters into an agreement for the support of a blacksmith, and receives land in the third division. Samuel Gilde senior built a cottage about 1660, and in 1663 received land from the fourth division. He died Feb. 21, 1683. Part of his homestead still remains in the possession of his descendants.

WILL OF SAMUEL GUILLE.

This is the last will and testimen of Samuell Gill though week /yet/ in his perfit understanding.

To my Son John I doe give my ox common lot as it is bounded with two ackers of meadow lying in the pond meadow between thomas whitters meadow and daniel hendricks meadow with two commonadges.

To my Son /Sam!/, I doe give my dwelling hous orchard land agining thereto with the barn a pon it with two commonadges; with three ackers of land of ox common land lying over the way against my hous which I had of goodman swan.

To my son efram I doe give my olde lot with the meadow agining theirtow wher I did formarly live; with twoe commonadges.

*The early New England towns were founded by a sturdy, reverent and hard-working class of people, not many of whom had enjoyed the advantages of a liberal education, and consequently the early records cannot be called models of correct grammar or spelling. The proper names are generally very much twisted and distorted in their use, and in this respect the name of our ancestor at Haverhill shared the common fate. We find him recorded on the records as Guild, Gild, Gilde, Guile and Gille, while the signature to his will is Guild or Gild. Most of his descendants are now found bearing the name Gille, except the posterity of his son John, who quite generally cling to the form of Guile.

Haverhill was granted to Rev. Nathaniel Ward and others in 1640, and laid out by the General Court in 1667. It included a large portion of the territory now forming the townships of Salem, Atkinson, Hampstead and Plaistow, N. H., and Methuen, Mass., until 1741, when the boundary line between Massachusetts and New Hampshire was settled. Previous to this, many of the Gile family are mentioned in the records of Haverhill, and afterward in the above towns, though they may not have changed their residences. For forty years, beginning with the year 1675, Haverhill suffered from depredations of the Indians, and the inhabitants were constantly on the alert for fresh attacks. Their houses were built so that they might become garrisons at short notice, and the men always had their guns ready for use, even on the Sabbath while at their devotions.

To my dafter Sarah I doe give my third devition lot lying beyand Spicket River; by goodman sachalls land, and my bed with all the furniture theirot; and fifty five pounds to be paied equally by my sons to /my dafter/ Sarah in corn and catell as can with in three years after my deses; it is to be understood eighteen pounds six shillings eight pence a pece

The fourth devishon land and the grate peace of medow lying in the pond medow with the Rest of the movables shall be equally devided amonge my three sons; and I doe mack my son John my execicitor.

/I give to my grandchild Judith Page five pound to be paid by my executors/

John Gill my son shall have halff /the frut of/ the orchard for seven years not with sta[n]ging the formar guieft and I doe mack choisse of thomas Whittier sener and stephen dow for to be oversers of the performance of my will, dated this 16 of february 1683.

JOHN GUILÉ² (*Samuel*¹), son of Samuel and Judith (Davis) Guilé, born at Haverhill, Mass., Dec. 8, 1652, married WIDOW SARAH SUTTON. He was the executor of his father's will, and was made a free-man at Newbury in 1678. In 1686, in open town-meeting, he charged Lieut. Johnson with attempting to cheat him by altering the bounds of land at Flaggy Meadow and taking in "near forty or fifty acres." A committee found that he and twenty others had trespassed upon the town ways. In 1694, for the sum of £16, he offered the town "the side hill adjoining Great Pond," which offer was accepted, he to receive "one-third current money, one-third good Indean corn, and one-third good fat cattle fit for slaughter." He was a house carpenter, and moved to Preston, Conn., in 1700. In a deed given in 1718, he is called of Providence, R. I., and March 31, 1726, Joseph Guilé of Providence gave bonds as administrator on the estate of John Guilé of Providence.

JOSEPH GUILÉ⁵ (Joseph,⁴ Joseph,³ John,² *Samuel*¹), son of Joseph and Elethan (Harris) Guile, born at Providence, R. I. He was one of the first settlers of Hoosick, N. Y., and became a noted soldier and scout, participating in many skirmishes and battles, and took many trophies from the enemy, such as muskets, tomahawks, scalping knives and powder horns; these were distributed among the heirs several years ago. He always dressed in the unique fashion of his time, which well became him, as he was a man of good size and proportion.

He died on the farm which he had reclaimed from the wilderness and preserved from savage invaders in November, 1809, and is buried on a grassy knoll by the public highway. No monument records his name and deeds of love and patriotism, only two moss-covered stones, taken from an adjoining field, mark the spot where this stout old pioneer, after a life of toil and strife and danger, awaits the breaking of that brilliant day that is to usher in the new earth.

 - (3) Edwin Sawyer (Walker), b. Whiting, Aug. 11, 1828; m. 1st, Aug. 11, 1858, Emily M., daughter of Ira and Celia S. Hunt of Fairfax, Vt. She was born Jan. 7, 1835, and died at Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27, 1868. He married 2d, at St. Albans, Vt., Dec., 1870, Harriet J., daughter of Philo and Jane S. Weeks. She was born at Fairfax, June 28, 1846. Until eighteen years of age he was engaged in the ordinary duties of farm work with his father at Fairfax, attending school three months every winter; attended the Bakersville Academy one term in 1847, and until 1850 was engaged teaching school at Swanton, Vt., during the winter months. Having decided upon a thorough course of education preparatory to the work of the Christian ministry, he commenced his preparatory studies at Rochester, N. Y., and in 1852 entered Rochester University, graduating with the degree of B.A. in 1856, completing his studies in the Rochester Theological Seminary, graduating in 1858. He was ordained, and settled as pastor of the First Baptist church in Dansville, N. Y., remaining two years; then became pastor of the church at Ripon, Wis., serving three years; then accepted the pastorate of the church at Sparta, Wis., and after three years' service was compelled by poor health to retire from public speaking and the ministry. In 1867 he moved to Springfield, Ill., and has since been engaged in the real estate and insurance business. In 1879 he published the "History of Oak Ridge Cemetery, including the National Lincoln Monument," the "History of the Springfield Baptist Association," and also edited and published "Echoes of Song," a volume of poetry, of which his sister, Mrs. Washington, was the author. He has taken a deep interest in tracing his "Gile" lineage and furnished many facts and data toward the accomplishment of his long cherished desire to place on record the history of his New England ancestors. Children: (I) Edward Lincoln, b. Ripon, Wis., Sept. 29, 1861; d. Sparta, July 18, 1864. (II) George Hunt, b. Sparta, Wis., Nov. 4, 1864. He graduated in 1886 from the University of Rochester, N. He was a graduate of the Rochester University and Theological Seminary, and during the twenty-six years of ministerial life, was pastor of churches successively in Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, New Jersey and Connecticut, the last being at Essex, Conn. Before her marriage, she was preceptress of the Collegiate Institute at Brockport, N. Y. Mrs. Washington inherited from her mother that poetic insight and love of the beautiful, which are characteristic of genius, and to which she has given voice in her volume of poetry entitled "Echoes of Song." At the beginning of the Woman's Crusade she became interested in the subject of temperance, and delivered her first address in the Hall of Representatives in the Capitol at Springfield, since which time she has been actively engaged as an organizer by the Woman's National Christian Temperance Union, extending her labors in many other States and addressing thousands of people. She is an eloquent and persuasive pleader for the highest and best interests of a true Christian reform. Children: (I) Irving, b. SAMUEL GILE⁵ (Ezekiel,⁴ Daniel,³ Ephraim,² *Samuel*¹), son of Ezekiel and Gertrude (Davis) Gile, born at Plaistow, N. H., July 23, 1778. He finished his preparatory studies at Atkinson Academy, entered Dartmouth College in 1800, and sustained an unblemished character and a high standing as a scholar during his connection with that institution. After leaving college he commenced the study of divinity, and, on being licensed to preach, his services were eagerly sought after. His commanding presence, his rich style, his powerful voice, and especially, his extraordinary devotional powers, rendered him always an engaging and acceptable preacher. Mr. Gile was invited to occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church in Milton, Mass., and was ordained Feb. 18, 1807. Soon after his settlement in Milton, Mr. Gile was married to MARY HENLEY WHITE, daughter of Isaac White, Esq., of Salem, Mass. He lost a number of children in infancy. For several years his family consisted of his wife, an only son, and an only daughter, who was long an invalid. The son—a young man of an excellent spirit, an example of meekness and Christian resignation—descended to the grave in 1827. His various domestic afflictions and his professional trials were borne with quietness and exemplary patience.

Dr. Gile never manifested any fondness for public life. He however performed a number of important public duties, and he held several important offices in the religious community. He was called to preach before the Foreign Mission Society of Boston and vicinity, the Norfolk Education Society, the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, the Society for Propagating the Gospel, the Convention of Congregational Ministers in Massachusetts, etc. In the education of indigent and pious young men for the Christian ministry, he took the deepest interest. At the time of his death he was Secretary of the Norfolk Auxiliary Education Society, and a member of the Board of Directors of the American Education Society. A few months before his decease, he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the University of Vermont.

Dr. Gile's religious opinions were well known. He was cordially attached to the system of faith held by the fathers of New England. He was remote, on the one hand, from a lax system of theology, and on the other from ultra orthodoxy. In the belief of the evangelical doctrines he lived, and in the belief of them he died. Though firm in his religious sentiments, he was liberal towards those who differed from him. Nothing was further from his bosom than a spirit of denunciation and censoriousness. He was no polemic nor controversialist. His preaching was rather experimental and practical than doctrinal.

He was much distinguished for his extraordinary gifts in prayer. His devotional exercises were marked by a sublimity, a richness, a freedom and a power, which elevated the souls of his fellow worshipers above this world, to sweet and holy communion with God. Dr. Gile was a very affectionate pastor. In the chamber of sickness and beside the bed of death, he was kind, soothing and prompt. In the temporal as well as the spiritual concerns of his flock, he took the most lively interest. They ever found him a prudent counselor, a timely peacemaker and a confiding friend.

In the domestic circle, his character shone in the fairest colors, and at home, in the bosom of his family, he found the sweetest pleasures. Benevolence was a marked feature, or rather one of the foundations of his character. He felt tenderly for the poor, and contributed largely for their relief. His heart overflowed with the most unaffected compassion for all in distress, and had his means been as large as his benevolent desires, no case of suffering would have gone unrelieved. Prudence was another trait in his character. Persons intimate with him for many years rarely or never heard an unguarded expression fall from his lips. His prudence might seem at some times, perhaps, to have degenerated into excessive caution.

Dr. Gile was remarkably distinguished for uniformity and consistency of character. He was endued by nature with a disposition peculiarly amiable, and the grace of God, when added to it, rendered his temper and conduct singularly uniform and delightfully consistent. He was always the same. The same benignant smile played on his countenance, in the family and in the social circle, and was sometimes seen lingering there, chastened by religious awe, in the house of God. Consistency, that rare virtue, was one of his most striking characteristics. There was a perfection, a completeness, a beautiful symmetry in his character, which made him one of the most estimable of men. This would not however be manifest on a cursory observation. By his intimate friends it was strikingly and most delightfully seen.

Under the trials, numerous and severe as they were, which he was called to experience, he was patient. He possessed great Christian meekness, and an uniform disposition to forgive injuries. By these dispensations in the providence of God, and by the influence of the Holy Spirit, which he earnestly desired and constantly sought after, he was rapidly ripened for the rest remaining for the people of God.

Dr. Gile died at Milton, on Sabbath, Oct. 16, 1836, at the age of fifty-six. The circumstances of his decease were unusually affecting. In the public service of the morning, he was present in his usual health and strength, and officiated in the exercises, offering the first prayer and reading a portion of scripture. The sermon was preached by the Rev. S. A. Bumstead. During the exercises, Dr. Gile seemed much engaged and devotional; often was he seen to wipe the falling tear from his eye. When the exercises were closed he returned home.

Scarcely, however, was he seated at the dinner table when he was stricken by the hand of death, and in less than an hour ceased to breathe, and at the very time the people were assembling for the afternoon worship.

On Tuesday, Oct. 18, his remains were committed to the earth amidst the tears of his affectionate and bereaved flock. On this occasion the Rev. Dr. Codman of Dorchester, who had been his neighbor and intimate friend for more than thirty years, preached a highly appropriate and interesting sermon, from which the principal part of the above sketch is extracted.

JOHN GILES⁶ (Noah,⁴ Ebenezer,⁵ Ephraim,² Samuel¹), son of Noah and Elizabeth (Howe) Gile, born at Henniker, N. H., May 7, 1772. His early life was passed amid scenes and experiences of hardship and privation, such as were common to the families of pioneers in the great work of clearing the forests, converting the land into fruitful fields and founding new towns in our New England States, and but little opportunity was offered him for acquiring scarcely more than a rudimentary education.

Soon after the attainment of his majority, with the scanty savings from his earnings, he started from Enfield, N. H., where his parents were then residing, and traveled up the valleys of the Connecticut and Ammonoosuc rivers to the site of the present town of Bethlehem, where was then an unbroken forest, and invested all his means, including the horse upon which he had ridden, in the purchase of land, and returned to Enfield on foot. He soon, however, commenced to prepare a farm upon a part of the purchase, and to build a house.

February 23, 1796, he married LYDIA CLEMENTS, a person who, though short and slight of figure, was capable of great endurance, and proved indeed a helpmeet for him in all his subsequent history, not only in the ordinary duties incident to such a life, but also in all the cares and responsibilities attending the rearing of a large family, and she was able to impart to the ten children entrusted to them, educational and religious instruction superior to that which was generally obtainable at that time.

After a residence of a few years upon his farm at Bethlehem, Mr. Gile having heard glowing accounts of "The Ohio," the popular designation by which the new State of that name formed but six years previous was known, started on foot to view the country, and accomplished the pedestrian tour of fourteen hundred miles to the Ohio river and back to his home in ninety days. He was so favorably impressed with the appearance of that country that he sold his farm, purchased a suitable wagon and a pair of horses, and made all other necessary preparations in order to start with his family thither in the spring of 1809. His intentions becoming known to his aged parents, caused them so much distress of mind, that out of filial regard for their feelings he was induced to change his purpose, and in the following autumn he made a purchase of several hundred acres of land in the town of Littleton, N. H., at a point midway between the Connecticut and Ammonoosuc rivers, where he soon after settled. Extensive labors were performed by him in clearing the land and in the erection of the requisite buildings, but his active mind could not find contentment in so restricted a sphere as the management of a farm, and he became one of the earliest proprietors of mill property on the Ammonoosuc, where now flourishes the pretty village of Littleton, in the building up of which he was ever after a zealous and active co-worker. And perhaps it might be justly said that probably no one man accomplished more toward developing and improving that immediate section of country than did John Gile, by his industry, enterprise and public-spiritedness, which were his chief characteristics.

Mr. Gile was endowed by nature with a strong physical frame, being five feet ten inches in height, and weighing about one hundred and seventy-five pounds, and had never been confined a day by sickness during his long life, excepting by the usual infantile diseases. But at last the infirmities of age came upon him. One pleasant morning in April, 1851, when within a few months of being four-score years of age, he went out as was his wont to take a short walk, returning apparently in his usual health and laid down to rest. But the messenger had come. At about noon of this day, with no particular ailment upon him, and with only the silent pressure of the hand to members of his family in token of farewell, he peacefully passed away.

GEORGE W. GILÉ¹ (Aaron,⁶ John,⁵ Noah,⁴ Ebenezer,³ Ephraim,² *Samuel*¹), son of Aaron and Persis (Rix) Gilé, born at Littleton, N. H., Jan. 25, 1830, married at Philadelphia, EMMA VIRGINIA SHUSTER. In him the martial spirit was very early developed, for at the age of ten years, he enlisted for the Mexican war, in the company of Capt. Batchelder, at Haverhill, N. H.; but as the permission of his father could not be obtained, he was for a time, denied the gratification of his desire, and previous to his enlistment, in 1861, his occupations were various. He learned the printer's art, and that of iron founding, and his talents have been exercised, in giving public lectures and readings, and the histrionic art has also received his attention.

Upon the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion, he enlisted, April 18, 1861, as a private in Co. I., 22d Pa. Vols., and on the 22d, of the same month, was promoted to be 1st Lieutenant in the same company. Aug. 9, 1861, he was promoted to be Major of the 88th, Pa. Vol., and with this regiment, participated in all the engagements of the 1st Army Corps, viz.: at Cedar Mountain, Mitchel's Station, Rappahannock Station, and the Second Battle of Bull Run. At this last named battle, the Lieutenant-Colonel commanding was killed on the firing of the first volley, and the command devolved upon Major Gilé, who fought the regiment with great gallantry, until the close of the battle, the regiment sustaining a loss of three hundred men, of the seven hundred engaged, and was afterward accorded the following well deserved acknowledgment. "The magnificent fighting of this brigade, in full view of both armies, drew forth the heartiest cheers from all observers, and did much to stay the final assault on our left." For meritorious conduct, he was promoted to be Lieutenant-Colonel of Volunteers, and brevetted in the regular service, from the date of that engagement, which was Aug. 30, 1862. He was engaged in the battles of Chantilly and Antietam, receiving brevet for gallantry at each, and being wounded at Antietam, was sent home; being afterward placed in command of the Reserve Corps in garrison, at Washington, with the rank of Colonel, and was subsequently brevetted Brigadier-General. At the close of the war he was transferred from the volunteer, to the regular service, and after service at the South and elsewhere, he is now upon the retired list of the regular army, with the rank of Colonel of Infantry. He is now engaged in the insurance business at Philadelphia, and resides at Haddonfield, N. J.

INDEX.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN GUILD BEARING THE NAME OF GUILD.

The figures before each name, denote the year of birth; the figures after the name, denote the consecutive number. After finding the name in the consecutive order, and a + cross appears before the number, the history of that person and family will appear further on, this number being found in the center of a page.
